WASHINGTON, July 26—Senator Taft (R-Ohio) said today a resolution adjourning Congress tonight will leave the way open for leaders to ask a special session although he does not expect one.

Congressional leaders "will get together in October and look things over then," Taft told a reporter. "I do ont expect a special session before congress reconvenes next January but conditions may look different."

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, July 26—Three major appropriation bills and some legislative odds and ends stood as the only barriers today between the first session of the 80th congress and adjournment that might until next January.

Republican leaders running the congressional show for the first time in 15 years were confident they could meet the adjournment deadline without difficulty.

But, if necessary, they stood ready to resort to the often-used legislative device of stopping the official clocks short of midnight to make the July 26 quitting date official.

G.O.P. Leaders Halleck of Indiana and Taft of Ohio carried in their pockets house and senate concurrent resolutions which, on adoption would send congress home probably until next Jan. 2, unless the Republican leadership, or President Truman, recalls the legislators before then.

The house approached its finale with a flash from a normal quitting hour yesterday but senators assembled jauntily after their second straight after-midnight tussle.

They ended a session of nearly 15 hours early today, a marathon which followed the 18-hour session terminated early Friday. The adjournment resolutions were due to go into the hoppers as soon as it became certain that the remaining "must" bills were in the clear.

In this category were a rivers and harbors appropriation bill the administration's foreign aid supply money measure, and the annual agriculture department appropriation bill.

Congress Passes Wool Price Support Bill

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, July 26—The house sent to President Truman today a measure to renew the government's price support of domestic wool.

The measure does not contain provisions for raising tariffs or fixing import quotas contained in previous legislation which Mr. Truman vetoed.

The action came on a voice vote. The senate passed the bill several weeks ago.

Mr. Truman already has announced his willingness to accept the support program so long as it left out the tariff-quota clause.

The measure continues the support program until the end of this year.

Before passing the measure, the house rejected a move by Rep. Tabber (R-Mass) to change the formula for fixing wool prices.

It passed the legislation confers support at the present level ranging between 40 and 42 cents per pound.

Impoverished Farmer To Give Away Children

By The Associated Press

BERTY, Ky., July 26—A 37-year-old Casey county tenant farmer, saying his family is struggling for survival, offered seven of his nine children today for legal adoption by families able to provide education and some comforts of life.

County Attorney Oliver Popplewell said he had no doubts about Mr. Turpin's sincerity. Turpin has said been trying to rear his family in a three-room farm house that provides slight shelter in bad weather. He said his wife Irene, had left him when the youngest child, nearing two years of age, was six weeks old.

The county attorney described the children as "unusually bright children with fine features." He said the county did not have facilities to care for them and added the state's quota at the Kentucky children's home near Louisville is filled.

Death Takes Mother Of Pres. Truman

By The Associated Press

GRANDVIEW, Mo., July 26—Mrs. Martha Truman, mother of the President, died at 11:30 a.m., central standard time, today.

Her death came just one hour after the President had taken off from Washington to be at her bedside.

Dr. Joseph Greene, the family physician, made this brief announcement by phone to the Associated Press:

"Mrs. Truman passed away at 11:30 this morning."

Dr. Greene said Mrs. Truman had been unconscious since last night, but that she was able to converse with him yesterday and that she was alert at that time, although her condition has been exceedingly critical ever since she suffered a setback last week.

He telephoned the President at Washington this morning informing him that Mrs. Truman probably could not live through the day. Mr. Truman immediately took off for Grandview. Mrs. Truman was 94.

Just before leaving, the President signed in his plane legislation unifying the armed forces under a single secretary of defense.

Mr. Truman delayed his departure for 17 minutes to sign the bill which was rushed to him from the capitol after having cleared congress yesterday.

The aged patient suffered a broken hip in a fall last February.

The President's plane, the Sacred Cow, was due here between 2:30 and 3 p. m.

Mrs. Truman, spry and in general, good health despite her advanced years, suffered a fracture of the right hip last Feb. 13. She fell as she was preparing to retire in the yellow frame bungalow where she has lived with her daughter, Miss Mary Jane Truman, for many years.

3rd Recent Accident

It was the third time in seven years that she had suffered a similar injury. In 1940 she fell, fracturing her left hip. Again in 1944 she fell, fracturing the same hip and her left shoulder.

Recovery from those injuries was complete.

After the third accident, Mr. Truman flew home, spent two days with his mother and left with encouraging news of her progress.

Three times since then he flew out to be at her bedside, and each time physicians reported that the break was knitting and she would walk again. They praised her "fighting heart," her "will to get well," and the care given her by Miss Truman.

For several hours a day she sat in her wheel chair.

Then on May 9 complications developed. She began carrying a temperature.

Brig. General Wallace Graham, the White House physician, flew here from San Antonio where he was on temporary duty, and remained with her.

Was To Try Walking

He reported that the complication was cleared up and that he was planning on having her try

DUTCH CLAIM THEY HOLD COAST OF JAVA

By The Associated Press

BATAVIA, JAVA, July 26—The Dutch claimed the capture today of a large section of the north Java coast, but the Indonesian Republicans reported successes also on at least three widely scattered fronts and spoke of rebellion among some East Indians in The Netherlands army.

A Dutch spokesman said the north coastline between Batavia and Cheribon, 130 miles east, was all now in the hands of Netherlands forces. This reported mopup resulted from an eastward drive from this Dutch colonial capital begun with the start of hostilities Sunday.

The conflict followed a breakdown in negotiations on how to carry out the Cheribon agreement of last March for a United States

Bill To Allow GI Bond Cashing Becomes Law

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, July 26—President Truman today signed the bill permitting GI's to cash their terminal leave bonds anytime after Sept. 1.

The President issued a statement suggesting strongly that "it is to the veterans best interest that they keep their bonds if they do not absolutely need to cash them now."

He said if a large amount of the oustanding bonds he estimated at $2,000,000,000 are redeemed soon general inflationary pressures "would receive a substantial boost."

2,500 Marionites Out To Greet Jr. C. of C. Air Tourists Who Arrive in 51 Private Planes

By MARY HERRING

Necks were craned skyward yesterday afternoon as some 2,500 air-minded Marionites searched the sky for the first of the planes participating in the annual Ohio Air Tour. The cavalcade of planes, designed to promote interest in private flying as well as demonstrate the safety, convenience and pleasure of air travel is sponsored yearly by the Cleveland business men and Junior Chamber of Commerce there.

At the Marion airport, long before the original arrival time of 2:30 p. m. rolled around, the spectators had already begun to stream into the port. Cars continued to arrive during the afternoon until they were parked in rows the complete length of the airstrip from the hangar west and on both sides of the road the same distance.

The first of the 51 planes to come into sight was a silver twin-motor Beechcraft Sohio plane which carried these passengers, E. J. Burkhardt, Standard Oil Co. official, Miss Donna Brower of Cleveland, a Capital Airline hostess who was chosen by Cleveland Jaycees to be Miss Cleveland. The pilot of the craft was "Buss" Finefrock of Cleveland.

The first plane, which pulled up to park just west and slightly north of the hangar, landed just 30 minutes after the last plane was reported to have left Canton airport, the previous stop. Planes of all sizes, shapes and hues came into the field, landing on the northwest strip, taxiing east toward the hangar and parking in a parallel line. The last of the caravan landed on the field about 35 or 40 minutes after the first had come in.

Another Twin Motor

A third to land was another twin motor, a Cessna, and had as a passenger, Clyde Williams, a Cleveland Jaycee and manager of the All-Ohio tour. The third and last of the twin-motor planes, a Beechcraft, landed soon after and carried Miss Gladys Sahr of Columbus, the Air-Tour Queen. Other passengers aboard the craft were Dwight McLean, president of Jr. C. of C., James Hartschorn of the Cleveland Plain Dealer and Mr. Day, vice president of the F. C. Russell Co., one of the sponsors.

Other well-known persons included in the tour was George Scragg, national president of the Earlybirds' Club (pilots before 1916), Cook Cleland, Navy pilot, and second score winner in the Thompson trophy race, and owner of his own airport near Cleveland. Mr. Cleland also has three planes entered in the national air race this year.
the national air race this year.

Heading the women pilots in the tour was Miss Arlene Davis of Cleveland, competitor in numerous national air races in the women's division. Miss Jean Gajda and Miss Alice Puller, both of Cleveland, also piloted their own planes. Frank Andrews, state vice president of Junior C. of C. from Cambridge, O., flew his own ship, a Cessna 140.

Fifty-one planes were in the caravan with 104 persons aboard, including pilots. Mr. Williams said two new planes had joined the tour at Canton, the last stop.

Secret Lincoln Papers Opened but Nothing Startling Discovered

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, July 26—A collection of Abraham Lincoln's papers, sealed from public view for 28 years, was opened today but the documents apparently were lacking in sensational facts about the life of the Civil war president.

Roy P. Basler, a well-known expert on the life of Lincoln and one of the group permitted to examine the papers after they were opened at midnight told reporters:

"I have found nothing and as far as I know none of the other men who examined the papers last night found anything that would alter our advance impression that the papers would serve chiefly to round out matters of interest to historians."

Robert Todd Lincoln, son of the great emancipator, who collected the papers at the White House after his father was assassinated, left them sealed at his death with the proviso that they should not be opened for 21 years.

That period expired at midnight and it was just one minute after that hour that the collection was removed from five safes and given to 30 experts to examine.

Basler said nothing was found that would implicate any member of Lincoln's cabinet in the plot to assassinate him. He said there was only indirect reference to stories questioning Lincoln's parentage.

Basler cited a letter by John D. Johnson, son of Lincoln's foster mother, written to the Civil war president at the time of the death of Tom Lincoln, his father. Basler said the letter contained references to Abraham Lincoln as "your father's own flesh and blood—his only surviving son."

20,000 Documents

Basler's remarks were made to reporters while they were waiting for the library staff to complete its work of preparing copies and digests of the 15,000 to 20,000 documents contained in the collection given to the library by Robert Todd Lincoln.

The President's son placed the sealed papers in the library in 1919. Afterward he deeded them to the library with the stipulation that they remain sealed until 21 years after his death. He died July 26, 1926.

As more than 100 Lincoln scholars, newspapermen, newsreel and radio men waited at the library for the double safes to be opened last midnight, Dr. Luther Evans, librarian told them:

"Nothing like this ever has happened in these rooms before."

Parts of the collection were to be placed on public display at 3 p. m. at a ceremony at which Basler is to speak.

Basler said the collection contains almost no personal letters or letters involving the Lincoln family—that Robert Todd Lincoln obviously had destroyed any that he may have found.

There were countless letters from Union army generals to Lincoln but very few from Lincoln to the generals.

All told, Basler said, there are fewer than 1,000 letters by Lincoln himself.

Dr. Evans began the formal opening at the appointed hour by reading Robert Todd Lincoln's deed of gift.

Report Hughes Denies Charge

Investigator Says Airman Disclaims Any Connection with Elliott Roosevelt.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, July 26—Howard Hughes was reported today to have denied specifically to the senate war investigating committee that Elliott Roosevelt had anything to do with government award of a $40,000,000 wartime plant contract to Hughes and Henry J. Kaiser.

A member of the committee told a reporter privately he was present when Hughes testified behind closed doors several weeks ago that the son of the late president contributed nothing toward obtaining the contract.

Senator Ferguson (R-Mich) said a subcommittee he heads has been looking into reports that Elliott may have played a part in obtaining White House backing for the contract — described as having been stoutly opposed by the armed services.

That apparently was one of the objectives of the committee in issuing a subpoena for certain papers in the files of the late President Roosevelt.

Most of these papers were delivered to the committee yesterday by Solon J. Buck, United States archivist, with the explanation in a letter to Chairman Brewster (R-Me) of the full committee that President Truman had approved the action because "it would not violate the intention of the late President Roosevelt as disclosed in such documents as are available."

Presumably, the committee hoped to find among these documents support for the contention of Ferguson are some other Republican members that White House "pressure" had been used to obtain approval of the contracts after the war production board and other agencies had ruled against them.

Whether Elliott Roosevelt exerted any influence in this situation seemingly has been one of the moving factors of the Republicans who are in charge of the investigation.

Congressman Smith Home from Capital

Congressman Frederick C. Smith, Eighth district representative, returned to his home at 739 East Center street Friday following adjournment of congress. He was accompanied by Mrs. Smith.

He said he had no definite plans for the remainder of the summer except to take a complete rest as ordered by his Washington physician following a physical checkup at Washington Emergency hospital. Mr. Smith entered the hospital about a month ago.

After a period in the hospital he was advised not to return to the house sessions during the remainder of the session of congress due to his "rundown" physical condition.

Harry Brookshire, secretary to Congressman Smith, and Mrs. Brookshire will return to Marion within a few days.

CONFEREES OK DAM PROJECTS

Senate, House Group Gives Approval to Delaware, Dillon Funds.

Appropriations of $3,200,000 for Delaware reservoir and $2,000,000 for Dillon dam near Zanesville were retained in a $507,000,000 appropriation for flood control, hydroelectric, navigation and other non-military activities of the war department in approval by a senate-house conference committee today, according to an Associated Press dispatch from Washington.

The figure approved by the conference committee is $33,000,000 lower than the $542,000,000 figure recommended by the senate appropriations committee, but $167,000,000 higher than a house-approved measure.

Other projects approved for Ohio are: Burr Oak reservoir, $600,000; Cincinnati, $1,000,000; Portsmouth-New Boston, $2,000,000, and West Fork Mill Creek reservoir, $500,000.

Act Urged by G.O.P.

The bill, covering the fiscal year ending next June 30, went to the committee after the senate passed a $542,000,000 bill Thursday night despite a Republican demand for a deep slash.

Ending long hours of argument early this morning, the conferees came up with the compromise figure but disagreed completely on two items added to the bill by the senate. These were $2,500,-

Dance Scheduled Tonight in Legion Youth Program

If you are 18 years old or over, like to dance and are interested in joining other young people for an evening of recreation, be at the Legion Dugout on South High street tonight for the first dance to be held under the sponsorship of Bird-McGinnis Post No. 162, American Legion, for young people interested in the organization of an informal dance club.

The movement got under way some weeks ago, when members of the post learned there were a large number of young people who would enjoy an evening of dancing not too far from home, where the cost of entertainment would be within reach of their purses and the company congenial. Such a project was taken under consideration by members of the post and met with hearty approval. The post went a step farther and offered the use of the kitchen at the Dugout for snacks to be prepared by the young people. The group may make their own rules and regulations and all the post asks is that the members respect its wishes regarding hours and leave the premises in the same condition in which it is found.

On hand tonight will be Newton Cunningham, of the post who has been instrumental in getting the project under way, and Earl L. West, commander of the post, who will act in the capacity of a welcoming committee. After tonight the group will be on its own, the sponsors state.

WOMAN AND 2 MEN HELD BY OFFICERS HERE

To Be Questioned Regarding Holdups in Marion, Lima and Elyria.

Three Marion residents—two men, ages 26 and 29, and a 22-year-old woman—were arrested shortly after 6 p. m. yesterday as suspects in the Western Union robbery here Tuesday night and an armed robbery at 10:45 a. m. yesterday at an Elyria restaurant.

The arrests were made by officers from all three departments, state highway patrol, sheriff and city police, who worked in cooperation after a statewide alarm on the Elyria robbery was broadcast just before noon yesterday and received here by the highway patrol.

The message, given by authority of Elyria, O., police, gave the description of the armed bandit who held up and robbed the restaurant there shortly before, also the license number of a black car which was seen leaving the place with three occupants.

The message received here described the bandit as being about 6 feet tall, wearing a soiled yellow T-shirt, blue trousers, grey hat and badly in need of a haircut.

When the patrol office here received the message they immediately notified city police and sheriff's office. All three departments started action which resulted in the three arrests about six hours later.

Recall Racing Car

Sheriff Leroy Retterer and Deputy Edgar Fink said they recalled the license as one they had noticed on Wednesday when they were checking the southwest section of the town in search of the man suspected of recent corn thefts.

Although the license was registered in the name of a county resident, the officers said they remembered seeing the car at the city location.

The sheriff and deputies and officers from the state patrol went to the house at Cheney avenue and Barks road, where the automobile had been seen previously, and found a man in the act of pressing a pair of trousers for his companion who was absent.

The armed officers surrounded the house and ordered the man to come out with his hands up. He first started for the rear door and seeing Deputy Fink stationed there he turned and came out the front where Sheriff Retterer was waiting with a sub-machine gun. The man submitted to arrest and was taken to county jail. Sheriff Retterer said he would probably be questioned later today.

Check on License

Officers previously had checked on the license of the car in question and found the machine to be owned by a brother of the second man sought. After the first arrest the officers checked the former address and place of employment of the second man and found him absent from both places.

In the meantime city police and patrol had joined the search for the second man and officers from all departments located the car, described in the message, parked on Davids street in front of a barber shop.

The man was in the barber chair getting a hair cut when the arrest was made. He also submitted to the arrest without trouble and was placed in city prison where he will be held until questioned.

The second man has been identified by Louis Long, night manager, as the robber who held up the Western Union office here earlier in the week, officers said. His description also tallies with the description broadcast of the armed bandit at Elyria. Two other Western Union holdups have been reported in the past week by officials from Lima and Van Wert, O. Officers said a victim of the Lima robbery would come here to attempt identification of the suspect.

The two men and woman under arrest and a second woman are reported to have been living together at the Barks and Cheney avenue address for the last month.

Woman Located

City police working on additional information located the woman suspect where she works as a waitress in an uptown grill. She was taken to city prison.

Police said both of the men

Leading Ohio Executive Dies

Julius F. Stone, 92, of Columbus Stricken in Santa Monica, Calif.

By The Associated Press

SANTA MONICA, Calif., July 26—One of Ohio's most prominent industrialists and philanthropists, Julius F. Stone, 92, died last night at the Santa Monica home that had been his permanent residence the past two years.

Ill for nine months after fracturing a hip in a fall, Stone had claimed Columbus, O., as his home although he and his wife had maintained the Santa Monica residence 11 years.

Born in 1855 at Devils Lake, Mich., the son of a German-born mathematics professor and a mother who was an accomplished musician, Stone completed his formal education at 13 to go to work. At 16 he became a telegrapher but abandoned this to pursue coal mining, a business in which he was engaged 23 years in Ohio, West Virginia, Illinois and Iowa.

"Horatio Alger" Story

His "Horatio Alger" advance up the ladder of success was climaxed when he became chairman of the Seagrave Corporation of Columbus, manufacturers of fire-fighting equipment. Stone's organization genius later led to presidencies of such firms as the Columbus McKinnon Chain Co., the McKinnon Columbus Chain Company of Canada, Case-Crane and Kilbourne-Jacobs Co., Chrisnel Motor Hoist Co., and the Bancohio Corp.

Paralleling these business achievements were Stone's interests and successes in the advancement of educational, cultural and scientific fields. A member of the Ohio State university board of trustees a total of 28 years, he deeded Gibraltar island near Put-In-Bay in Lake Erie to Ohio State as a biological laboratory named in memory of his father, Franz Theodore Stone.

Wrote of Experiences

In 1932, Stone wrote a book on his experiences as an explorer and when he retired in 1937 from the Ohio State trustee's board he was named chairman emeritus.

ing the planes as they came in, arranging them in rows four deep from almost the entire length of the field.

Although the Marion Jaycees met the planes as they came in the official welcome didn't start until all planes were in and the pilots and passengers treated to sandwiches and soft drinks, furnished by the local chapter.

Miss Betty Hawkins, the hostess representing the local chapter and Marion, greeted the Miss Brower and Miss Sahr as they landed.

Miss Hawkins wore a dark green satin dress, fashioned on simple lines with the fabric draped to fall on the left side. Black kid pumps, a black straw hat with a turned down brim and black net mitts completed the costume. Her corsage was fashioned of a gardenia nestled in rose buds and tied with white ribbon.

Miss Sahr, the air tour queen, wore a two-piece black costume which featured a row of tiny cloth covered buttons at the front of the hip-length jacket with a back interest of appliqued pink felt in the form of a bow at hip-line with pink appliqued streamers extending both upward toward the waist and down to the bottom of the jacket. Her hat was of black felt trimmed with a single pink rose under the crown. Her corsage was gardenias and roses.

Miss Brower wore her official uniform, a smartly tailored gabardine of a blue-green shade with a short waist-length jacket. The beret-style cap was of the same material with the airline insignia pinned on one side of the narrow band circling the forehead.

Taking honors as the youngest "young lady" on the tour was a black curly-haired miss of five years answering to the name of "Cookie," a veteran of 150 hours, flying with her father Jack Oettlinger of Cleveland. In spite of participating in the more or less sophisticated pastime of being on an air tour, "Cookie" rode to the refreshment stand on her father's shoulders. The youngest boy was Bob Wilson, 8, a passenger in a plane piloted and owned by his father Robert Wilson Sr., also of Cleveland.

An air of gaiety was over the field after all passengers and pilots had alighted. Most of the visitors congregated at the refreshment stands and the most amusing comment was from one of the first arrivals. The visitor had just downed a bottle of pop and consumed a sandwich and then heaving a big sigh he turned to his companion and remarked "that's one of the best things I like about coming in first."

At the official welcome, George Schwab, Jaycee chairman of the aviation committee, introduced all visitors to Mayor Harry L. Dowler, member of the welcoming committee, and to the officials of the Chamber of Commerce and the Junior Chamber of Commerce. He then turned the program over to Jack Lautenslager, president of the local chapter who extended a welcome to the visitors and congratulated Mr. Schwab on his work as chairman. Miss Hawkins was next on the program with a general welcome to all visitors. Miss Sahr, the Queen, spoke her thanks on the reception. Miss Brower, Miss Cleveland, added her expression of appreciation of the reception.

Donald Stull of the Ohio Gas and Fuel Co. presented a sheaf of roses to Miss Sahr, who is employed with the Ohio Gas and Fuel Co. in Columbus, as a token from the Marion office.

Mayor Dowler Speaks

Mayor Dowler, in a talk following the presentation, praised the tour and especially their reason for the flight, to promote the idea of safety and convenience of private flying. William Reichenstein, a member of the Chamber of Commerce and civil air patrol expressed the belief that next year the new airport would probably be available for both commercial and private use.

Robert T. Mason, president of the Marion C. of C. and WMRN, said he was grateful the tour had used Marion as a port of call and hoped it would in future years. Mr. Williams, upon his introduction said the reception had been very cordial. Mr. Andrews, Jaycee state president, said that during the last three days, more than 30 pilots had been turned down when they requested to join the tour. The caravan had tried to cut down to 45 planes but they ended up with 51.

Kenneth Robinson, state representative from Marion county voiced his appreciation of the stop-over then turned the microphone over to Mr. Cleland who first of all expressed his thanks, next the wish they could stay longer then reverted to flight schedule by saying, "it's time to be off, let's get the show in the air."

Field Finally Cleared

Most predominate in the tour were Taylorcraft, Cessna, Ercoupe and four-passenger Stinson planes.

The first take-off was at 4:20 p. m., just an hour after the first arrival. After that, an orderly procession of planes, red, silver, blue, green and other colors, taxied to the northeast corner of the field, then circled to the southwest corner for a proper position with the wind. Planes were close on the take-off with about 45 seconds between each. The field was cleared completely within less than an hour. Sandusky was the next stop, then Detroit where those aboard would spend the night.

The first ship to arrive was perhaps the last to leave due to the fact that Mayor Dowler, Mr. Reichenstein, Miss Hawkins and Mr. Schwab were taken for a joy ride by the pilot following the completion of the program.

The program was transcribed at the field and broadcast over WMRN at 8:15 last night.

RESUME AIR TOUR FROM DETROIT TODAY

DETROIT, April 26—Weather permitting, 50 private planes carrying 100 Ohio fliers were ready today to resume a three-day air tour visiting 12 cities before their return tomorrow to Cleveland.

The planes stopped here last night where they were parked at Greater Detroit airport while the fliers were entertained at a banquet by Detroit aviation enthusiasts.

Included in the Ohio delegation making the first stop of the tour here were C. A. Brown, director of the Ohio board of aeronautics, and George Scragg, president of a national organization of private plane owners.

Church Sold by Error Saved from Destruction

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, July 26—At least temporarily, the 40 members of the Church of God and Saints of Christ have saved their building.

A temporary injunction was granted by Common Pleas Judge Frank J. Merrick yesterday, restraining Stanley J. Olstyn, a real estate investor, from tearing down the church.

Olstyn bought the church and parsonage at a sale of tax delinquent buildings, for $590. County officials said that only the parsonage should have been put up for sale, as churches are tax exempt. When the congregation offered $590 for the property it Olstyn would return it, he quoted a price of $5,000 and said he was "not in business to get my money back."

U. S. Shies from Paying for Civil War Horses

By HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON — During the ... a man in Missouri ... horse and wagon to the ... army.

... has finally decided the ... ought to give him ... horse and wagon or else ... for them.

... one of thousands of ... citizens who have a ... interest in ... of the ... office ... which ... as "the ... of ... misery," ... where ... of the ... ominate ... relief to ... who feel ... have a fi... claim ... the United States.

Hal Boyle

... go through Walter R. Lee ... Jackson, Miss., clerk of the ... judiciary committee's sub-committee on claims.

... looks now like every ... being wants something ... the government," he said. ... Unfortunately, it is pretty ... hard to get money from the government. And it's getting more difficult.

Ask Twice Expectations

"So most people put in a claim for about twice what they really expect to get," said Lee.

Before the reorganization bill was signed last August congress used to have to handle 3,000 or more bills each session from people wanting the government to pay them for things like army trucks running into their cars on curves or tanks ruining their tomato crops during maneuvers.

Now most of these personal injury and damage cases are supposed to go to the federal district courts for settlement if they date from Jan. 1, 1945.

But there are still from 1,000 to 2,000 private claims cluttering up the congressional calendar and distracting the attention of statesmen from major legislation.

Rule Out Pre-1932 Cases

Just as a working principle the house judiciary committee automatically rules out all claims prior to 1932 unless they are brought up for consideration by a two-thirds vote. This means the elderly citizen from Missouri will probably never get his Civil war horse back unless he can locate the man who borrowed it and settle the issue with him beard to beard.

Despite the congressional "streamlining" bill of last year, however, there are still some 33 classes of private claims that go to congress instead of the federal court.

They include cases as diverse as the relief of widows of FBI agents killed in the line of duty, to the reimbursement of a man for a camera he checked with capitol police — who lost it.

All these private claim bills—one was for $32 a North Dakota farmer wanted back for filling out the wrong (and for him, more expensive) income tax blank—have to pass the house, senate and White House just like a major appropriation bill.

Some "Plain Frivolous"

"Some of the requests are just plain frivolous," said Lee, whose figures show that only one out of every three private claim bills are finally paid. It takes an average of nine months for such a bill to go through the legislative mill.

Still outstanding are some 10,000 claims totaling $2,000,000 from the disastrous ammunition ship explosions at Port Chicago, Calif., on July 17, 1944.

But the biggest current private claim bill is one recently passed by both the senate and house to relieve disbursing officers of the Army and Navy of responsibility for $135,000,000 mistakenly paid out during war days. A bill of this type is passed after every American war.

The legislators scrutinize all claims with considerable care, but generally pay off if substantial damage is proved.

One of the oddest was put in by a young schoolteacher who visited an Army camp and suffered considerable burns and embarrassment from a plumbing fixture that had carelessly been linked to a hot steam tank instead of a cold water pipe.

United in chivalry, Democrats and Republicans in both houses gallantly voted her several thousand dollars without dissent.

Erie Veterans Picnic Held at McKinley Park

A picnic was held Thursday by the Erie Veterans association and auxiliary and family at McKinley park with 82 present. Novelty races and other similar events made up the entertainment following the picnic dinner. Prizes were won by Mrs. Frances McLean, Mrs. Catherine Hartshorn, second and third in two events; Mrs. Sally Carey; Robert Aller, Gary Hartshorn, Mrs. Matilda Bolinger, Mrs. F. W. Lewis, Howard Jacoby, O. G. Carey, Ross Rogle, third in two events, R. H. Pauling, Jacob Bolinger, Donald Bush and Thomas Murtaugh.

Special prizes went to Mrs. W. H. Melby and Mrs. J. J. Keggan. Refreshments were in charge of Mrs. Chester Murtaugh, and contests were in charge of Mrs. H. E. Smith and Mrs. V. H. Tron. At the next meeting, the men will entertain the auxiliary with a steak fry.

ELLIOT DINES WITH HUGHES' MAN. YOUR HEALTH

By HERMAN BUNDESEN, M.D.

May Not Be Indigestion

It is estimated that about half the people who consult the doctor do so because they think they are suffering from indigestion. What they do not realize is that one out of every five cases of so-called indigestion is due to gallbladder infections and gallstones.

This disorder occurs three times as often among women as among men. Though it may be present much earlier, it usually does not begin to produce symptoms—pain, indigestion and the like—until after the patient is past 40 years of age. However, cases of gallstones have been reported in a child as young as seven.

Gallbladder disease may flare up suddenly with very severe symptoms or it may cause a milder discomfort over long periods of time. When it occurs, the first thing the doctor needs to know is whether or not operation is necessary.

According to Drs. William Bates and D. C. Emenhiser of Philadelphia, there are certain symptoms which indicate unmistakably that gallbladder disease is present, and that an operation with removal of the gallbladder is required. These include attacks of biliary colic, which means that there are attacks of unusually severe pain in the right upper part of the abdomen, extending through to the back. Belching, sickness to the stomach and vomiting usually, but not always, accompany the pain, along with chills, fever and an increase in the number of white cells in the blood.

Following the attack there may be some tenderness in the region of the gallbladder, with excessive amounts of gas in the bowel and a feeling of fullness after eating. Of course, when such attacks occur, an X-ray of the gallbladder should be taken which may either show the presence of stones in the gallbladder or that the gallbladder is not working as it should.

A mild form of gallbladder disease is known as acute catarrhal cholecystitis. This is an inflammation of the gallbladder which almost defies recognition because the symptoms are neither severe nor clear-cut. This condition comes on gradually with some sickness to the stomach, slight fever and some pain in the right upper part of the abdomen. Jaundice, or yellowish-green discoloration of the skin, may or may not be present.

Gallbladder inflammation may be chronic or long-continued condition. In chronic cholecystitis the gallbladder does not empty itself as it should, and this produces symptoms of indigestion or dyspepsia. This disorder is much more difficult to diagnose than acute inflammation of the gallbladder.

When a person thinks he has indigestion he should, of course have a careful study made to determine whether or not the condition is due to gallbladder disease. Then either medical or surgical treatment can be carried out. The treatment used depends on the type of gallbladder trouble present.

I have outlined a suggested diet of instructions which may be helpful in following the physician's advice. I shall be glad to send this information to those who write to me, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope. Names will not be used.

Plan Both Marriage, Career, U. S. Department Tells Co-Eds

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON, July 26—So you're a girl going to college and you're trying to decide what kind of work or life you want when you get out.

For puzzled girl collegians, the women's bureau of the labor department has cooked up some answers. They don't pretend to be all the answers.

James Marlow

But in the department's monthly bulletin, the bureau says:

"Don't try to choose between marriage and a career. But prepare for both home and job.

"You may think you'll never be a working woman, but plans have been upset before. It may be the same with yours."

The bureau warns the going will be tough for the girl who wants to go into one of the so-called men's professions, like medicine, law, engineering.

Such a girl, the bureau says, will need courage, initiative, patience and more-than-average ability.

Why? To break down the prejudices still met by women who want to go into those professions, prejudices against women.

Women are less than 5 per cent of all doctors, lawyers, engineers, dentists, architects, draftsmen, pharmacists, and certified public accountants.

The bureau says:

"For the girl who is not hardy enough or inclined to buck long-standing prejudices, the bureau suggests one of the well-established occupations for women.

"There are scores in which the trail blazing has been done. For instance: there is home economics, teaching, library work, and nursing, in each of which women make up more than 75 per cent of all employed persons.

Technicians Wanted

"Slightly newer are the occupations of medical laboratory technician, dental hygienist, physical and occupational therapist, doctors' and dentists' assistants.

"In these also women account for more than three-fourths of the employed."

What of the girl who wants to work for a long time? The bureau says:

"In general, she will take more of a chance if she chooses a rapidly changing field rather than one of the older, more established ones.

"The demand for stewardesses, designers, interior decorators, or radio continuity writers, for example, is less predictable than that for teachers, nurses, social service, or office workers."

Right there the bureau adds:

"This fact probably would not stop the girl who has made up her mind, but it may influence the one who is trying to decide."

Get Best Education

Suppose a girl can't afford a full college education. Of her, the bureau says:

"Lay a foundation that will enable you to branch off earlier, if you must. For example:

"If a girl takes science courses, she ultimately can become a physician, a nurse, a pharmacist.

"However, she can stop earlier and become a medical laboratory technician or a chemical analyst."

And—what of the girl who is looking for something new?

If she's looking for something unusual, the bureau suggests she try to do something special in an old field. For example:

A person who wants to teach but hopes for something out of the ordinary, may become a teacher of deaf or blind children.

A secretary with ability in languages may be able to get jobs abroad.

And a librarian may specialize in science and become a top-ranking scientist's assistant.

COLUMBUS TO OBSERVE FAIR LIQUOR SALES BAN

State Fair Affected; "Home Rule" Basis for Other Cities Decisions

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., July 26—Strict compliance with Ohio's 1858 liquor closing law during the Ohio State fair next month will be pressed by city officials despite recent repeal of the enactment, effective Sept. 8.

Mayor James A. Rhodes, Safety Director C. C. Cole, and Police Chief Lester A. Merica announced that because the closing of liquor establishments within two miles of the state fairgrounds still would be law between Aug. 25 and 29 tavern keepers in the restricted area would be asked—and expected—to cooperate.

However, Sheriff Ralph Paul had not yet publicly announced what the position of his office would be, except to say privately that if the old law became an issue he probably would help enforce it.

The matter of enforcing the law was laid in the laps of local governments by Lt. Floyd C. Moon, acting enforcement chief of the Ohio liquor department. Moon said that the matter was "strictly" up to local governments on a "home rule basis."

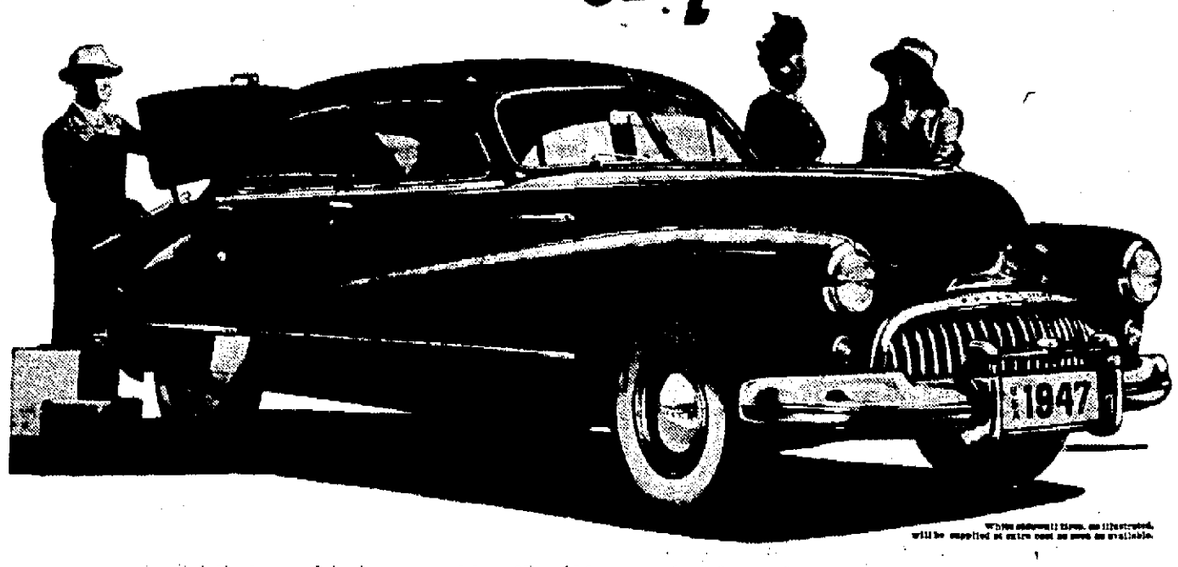
For the Best Years of your Life



While this year's cars, as illustrated, will be supplied as extra cost as soon as available.
THIS much folks learned during the war—the money that buys a Buick buys a lot of years of dependable service.
This much you can be sure of, looking this postwar beauty over—the dollars you put into this one will buy the best years of your motoring life.
Check style. You don't have to be told these long, clean, sweeping lines are everlasting in their classic beauty.
Check power. This is a husky Buick Fireball straight-eight you have here—quick-triggered and velvety from your first go-signal to the very last stop.
Check the ride. Four big coil springs, one to a wheel, soak up road jars like a blotter soaks ink. And their gentle action needs no care to keep them ever soft and perpetually easy in their action.
Check room. Here's space for six on big broad cushions—here is the stretch of generous wheelbase—here the stability of two tons of steady-going roadweight.
Check the lightness of the wheel. Check the quick bite of brakes. Check the solid, all-together feel of a car taut and true in every move and moment.
Check it all, in short, and see if this one doesn't add up to years of fun, years of joyous going, years that are rich in adventures shared and duties well performed.
You open the door on those years when you tell us now you want to put an order in. We'll take it with or without a car to trade and with our promise that you'll get your car as promptly as the times permit.

Garden Clubs Work for Parks

Two garden club units and the Marion cemetery association have contributed toward beautification of Marion's parks by giving flowers for beds, according to Mayor Harry L. Dowler. Mr. Dowler approached the groups earlier this year in connection with a park program, but rain hampered carrying the program out. Garden club members said the amount of work that could be done this year has been limited by rains and the lateness of the season, but expressed hope that the park project might be carried on from year to year as part of club activities.

The cemetery association contributed 19 flats of plants, about 2,000 individual plants, which have been set out in beds.

The House and Garden unit has taken as a civic project revamping of the rockery in South End park. Members of the Burroughs Nature Study club endeavored to keep the rockery in condition during the war years, but found it impossible to keep the area in top condition when it became difficult to secure help.

Originators of the plan for the rock garden were Dr. Frank Mann and Charles Raymond. Mr. Raymond laid out the garden and planned plantings, and Dr. Mann, then president of the city park commission, supplied materials. The garden was originally laid out about seven years ago.

Town and Country club donated ageratum plants for a flower bed to supplement perennial plantings. Because of the lateness of the season it was difficult to obtain complete selections of perennials, it was explained.

Of the month's circulation at the main library adult fiction led the list of books loaned with 2,905 and juvenile fiction was next with 1,371. Also during the month 157 new borrowers were added at the main library.

Dr. Hershey is interested in getting a young married missionary couple to go into that field to work with the Indians, he stated. 13 CALLED TO STAND IN MASSILLON SUITS

By The United Press

MASSILLON, July 26—Thirteen more witnesses were called today to testify Monday in the $400,000 damage suits against City hospital as a result of the mysterious deaths of two infants there June 6.

The suits were brought by the parents of Rosemary Norton and Diane Brand, the victims. Hearings will resume Monday morning in city council chambers.

Those subpoenaed included four doctors, six hospital nursing staff members, a former nurse and two hospital visitors.

Meanwhile, both city and county authorities reported no new developments in the baffling killings. City police still held that the case was solved with the "confession" of a six-year-old boy patient, while the county prosecutor continued his hunt for a "murderer."

Ballistics Tests Fail To Solve Ohio Slaying

By The Associated Press

CIRCLEVILLE, July 26—Sheriff Charles Radcliff disclosed today that ballistics tests in the Columbus police crime laboratory failed to show whether the fatal shooting of Noah V. Paxton, 22, a farm hand, was suicide or homicide.

Dr. Lloyd Jones, Pickaway county coroner, said he would withhold a verdict pending further developments.

Paxton's body, with a bullet in the brain, was found at midnight July 10 in the front seat of his auto parked on an isolated road four miles northeast of Circleville.

The sheriff said investigation had developed no motive for either suicide or murder.

The Off-Season

WITH congress in recess, the Washington news budget now will decline sharply. But even in the off-season the Washington dateline will occur frequently over stories designed to educate and to titivate.

For instance, the senate war investigating subcommittee is ready to begin examining Howard Hughes' $44,000,000 wartime airplane contracts, with promise of spicy testimony to come. A model and an actress, the latter of whom looks especially trig in a bathing suit, have been subpoenaed to tell what they know of the Hollywood parties Hughes gave—"lavish" parties they were—for government officials. Senator Ferguson expects the hearings into this and similar matters will last the remainder of the summer.

What pressure was brought to bear in obtaining war contracts? Who attended these parties and what went on? What other bathing-suited cuties will be called to testify? What new evidence of mis-, mal-and nonfeasance will Hammering Homer Ferguson unearth in high places? Tune in regularly for episodes of this exciting melodrama.

T-Day Is Here

IN THE course of World War II we had M-Day, D-Day, VE-Day and VJ-Day. The President's signature of senate joint resolution 128 made July 25 T-Day—marking the official termination of the war, the day when curtailment of veterans' benefits begins.

New enlistees will henceforth be only former servicemen, not war veterans, when they leave the service. Veterans planning to go to school under the G.I. bill of rights must begin within four years and must finish within nine years. Unemployment allowances have only two more years to run. Loan guarantees will expire July 25, 1957.

Thus the government takes another step in the vast job of winding up World War II. It is a task of such complexity that it will keep thousands of persons occupied for years, a task that won't be finished in this century.

Symbolic Justice

THE sentences given former Representative May of Kentucky and the Garsson brothers, Murray and Henry, charged with paying and accepting bribes during war contract negotiations, are symbolic justice. The three men must serve at least eight months but not more than two years, which only suggests how an indignant public feels about persons who are unfaithful to a public trust.

What has happened to these three men is symbolic justice in another sense. Circumstances have made former Represestative May and the Garsson brothers—or, rather, their wartime dealings—the visible evidence of a widespread situation. The public was confronted many times during the war years with strong circumstantial evidence of string-pulling and willful misuse of taxpayers' money.

It would have been a miracle if there hadn't been some of the grossest corruption in history, with so many billions going through the hands of thousands of persons with no more than ordinary scruples. It takes more than ordinary scruples to protect the public, which will feel better about what happened if a good many more careless citizens are brought to justice on similar charges in the near future.

The Highest Tribute

FURTHER testimony to the quality of the job Gen. MacArthur is doing in Japan comes from a World Federation of Trade Unions delegation which says he has "performed a marvelous task in revitalizing Japan despite that nation's perilous trade situation."

Overruled by the war department on forbidding the delegation to visit Japan, MacArthur nevertheless showed it every courtesy, it reported. Particularly commended were his removal of restrictions on political, civil and religious liberties; encouragement of labor unions; laws safeguarding collective bargaining and organizing rights; the abolition of thought-control laws, and the release of 300,000 political prisoners.

This is high tribute indeed. It is, in fact, the highest tribute when one considers that the delegation included a Russian who concurred in the report.

Don't Egg Them On

IN THE last-minute glut of bills in the congressional hopper was a resolution calling for a special postage stamp commemorating the 100th anniversary of the first American poultry show. No word has come through on this measure, suggested by the New Haven, Conn., Cackle & Crow club, so presumably it was lost in the shuffle.

Even those who harbor the friendliest feelings toward chickens might say this was carrying the commemorative stamp rack—beg pardon—business too far. If postoffice department engravers come through with a nice design showing a buff-orpington rampant on a field of fried eggs, it would just be egging other bird interests on.

Turkey farmers would demand a stamp. Pigeon fanciers would feel slighted.

Two Years of Blundering

By RAYMOND MOLEY

Costly Miscalculations at Potsdam.

TWO years ago the great and supposedly wise men gathered at Potsdam to plan a new Europe. It is a tenable conclusion that economic affairs in Europe are more confused now than they were then. Most Europeans would probably say just that. In any event, things are in appalling shape, despite the fact that the United States in the last two years has sent over more money and more money's worth than all the loans in the 20 years after the first World war and probably more than all the costs in the war year 1918. That help has not been sufficient.

What is the reason? Is it because of the Russians or of inevitable circumstances or of avoidable mistakes? It is time to sum up the case against Potsdam and assign responsibility.

Tracing the Blame

Russia must bear a heavy burden of guilt. But its delays, ineptitudes and rapacity cannot explain all the confusion. The case against the West is still strong after all possible responsibility has been placed on the leaders of the U.S.S.R.

Two mistakes loom up with the immense backing of the facts. The first is that the capacity of Germany to recover was grossly overestimated. The second is that Britain, France and some of the other European countries put social reform ahead of recovery in their choice of domestic policies.

On Sept. 3, 1945, in Barron's, Julius Hirsch, who has an intimate knowledge of Germany's economic affairs, wrote: "The annual deficit in the reduced Fourth Reich...will be in monetary values of today (1945) $300,000,000 to $400,000,000. This deficit will literally be a matter of life or death for Germany. Therefore, the United States will have to support Germany to the tune of $300,000,000 to $400,000,000 a year (probably for at least eight to ten years)."

This has come true. Moreover, with food prices almost double those of two years ago, the cost will run $600,000,000 to $800,000,000 a year.

A subsequent mistake was even more costly. Under the delusive influence of the fantastic and disastrous Morgenthau plan, the Allied nations control commission in 1946 devised a so-called "level of industry" plan. This held German industry at so low a level that no considerable amount of exports could be expected. This plan was made on the assumption that Germany would be self-sufficient, so far as food and food imports are concerned, in three years. No less than a thousand "experts" participated in this folly.

The frontiers drawn at Potsdam brought about the removal of almost 10,000,000 people into the greatly reduced area of Germany. Most of these crowded into the Western zones, where the "level of industry" plan prohibited Germans from building those factories which would produce goods to trade for imports of food. The plan also prohibited them from producing the fertilizer and machinery necessary to raise their own food.

Morgenthau's Error

General Clay's new directive is a belated repudiation not only of Potsdam but of the Morgenthau idea. It is hard to think of any idea in history which ever went so sour as the device of the New Deal secretary of the treasury. It lengthened the war and prevented the peace.

Socialism in Britain and France has been as disastrous as the mistakes of Potsdam. It is foolish to expect that any company would spend a cent for factory improvements or new equipment in face of the prospect of being nationalized. By putting nationalization first, Britain and France have sacrificed production and legislated poverty. You cannot destroy inefficiency by nationalizing it.

It is not too late to cure our mistakes, but it is going to be extremely costly.

Motoring Back When

By FRANK TRIPP

OUR FAMILY just turned in a car we have driven since 1941, a long time for us. It occurred to me that it never got towed in nor had a tire changed on the road.

Maybe that doesn't sound unusual to a lot of people but anyone who motored 40 years ago will not turn up his nose at the mention of it. He'll remember, 'specially if he was ever towed in by a horse.

The slogan of the dependable old Model T was, "It gets you there and it gets you back." That was the model the late Henry Ford clung to until his son almost left him. A lot of more pretentious makes often didn't get you back.

I was looking at the "set of tools" that came with my new car. Looks like they came fresh from the five and dime. The old-time cars came with a tool kit bigger and better than most auto mechanics own now. The tool kit was one of the selling points.

There was a tool box on the running board, right handy by. That was a good idea for you were in the tool box as much as you were in the driver's seat. I also carried a vise to clamp on the running board and a vulcanizing outfit. A 50-mile trip without "getting under" entitled you to mention in the paper.

Why I carried a vulcanizing kit was on account of a bad experience with cemented-on patches. After I had taken a punctured tire off the rim three times because the patch didn't stick, I hit on a smart idea—an improvised vulcanizer.

I let the leather seat get good and hot in the burning sun. I attached the patch carefully for the fourth time, spread the tube on the hot seat and had Fanny sit on it. It worked swell but one time was all I could induce my wife to cooperate.

The cord tire had not yet been invented. Tire casings were canvas fabric. They were small in diameter; one of four inches was a real big one. The required air pressure was 70 pounds, more than twice the present. They rode like solid tires and the old buggy rattled like a tin pan. The weak construction, high pressure and the terrible roads made blowouts an expected incident. The standard mileage guarantee was 2,500 miles. You were lucky if you got it.

I had one that ran 3,500 miles without attention. That was such a phenomenal thing that a dealer bought me a new rim so he could display my treadless but still inflated tire, just as it came off the car. The sign in the window read, "This tire ran 3,500 miles without coming off the rim." Folks stopped, marveled and disbelieved.

With all its hazards, dust and setbacks, motoring was a real adventure and a lot more fun than now. It was even fraternal. People who wouldn't speak at home got real chummy when they met somewhere while motoring. In the early days you always saluted a car of the same make as yours by a pinch of the rubber bulb on your asthmatic horn.

By 1910 we could go real places without putting a mortgage on the homestead. In 1913 two couples of us, in the first Studebaker ever built, a little four-cylinder open car, covered 1,800 miles in two weeks. We made comfortable stop-overs in Philadelphia, Washington, Atlantic City, Asbury Park and New York with side trips, at a total cost for car, motels, amusements, and the best time I ever had with an automobile, of $150.

We had to; that's all we had. Sounds impossible but we did it and lived well too; though not in bridal suites of swank hotels. When we hit a town in which neither couple had relatives we would park two blocks from a small hotel. Henry French would discard duster, goggles and cap, brush up a bit, don a straw, carry a drummer's traveling bag, go to the hotel and strike a bargain.

Then we would drive up in our little Studebaker, packed with bags and boxes. The clerk would give French a dirty look. For they had higher rates for motorists than for ordinary transients.

That's how we did. But not today, brother!

Rescue at the Zoo
A Trunked Up Affair

By The Associated Press

BERLIN—A nine-year-old girl climbed over a wire fence into the elephants' enclosure at the Hagenbeck zoo in Hamburg recently and fell into the pool in which the elephants bathe. Her screams brought a trainer. At his command an elephant wrapped his trunk around the child and lifted her to safety.

Stamp Racket

International sales of special postage stamp issues are becoming a racket, according to Donald F. Lybarger of Cleveland, American Philatelic Society president. For instance, he says, several countries have issued what they call Franklin D. Roosevelt memorial stamps, selling virtually the entire output to wholesalers who then peddle them to collectors at 10 times their market value.

The most recent Roosevelt memorial issue has been put out by Hungary but not many residents of Budapest have seen it. Most of the issue was peddled to an American wholesaler who bought it at a premium and to resell at whatever the market will bear.

San Marino, a country of 38 square miles with a population of 14,500, makes a good thing out of stamps. It put out a set of 14 to sell at $6.50 but not many collectors will be able to buy it at that price. Liberia has a 70-cent airmail which has had a "limited edition" and now sells at a good many times more than 70 cents. Nicaragua put out a set of 11 stamps about a year ago with a face value of about $1.60. They went to preferred buyers, however, and an American collector has to pay around $20 to come by the issue now.

SHAKING 'EM OUT

From News of Other Years

TEN YEARS AGO

It was Monday, July 26, 1937.

The Japanese government expressed fear that a major armed conflict between Japanese and Chinese in North China was unavoidable. At Tientsin, China, Japan's army rekindled the military fires with air bombs and bullets and demanded a formal ultimatum that Chinese troops quit Peiping and its embattled environs quickly or face "drastic" punitive action.

George W. Miller, 78, president of the Farmers & Citizens bank at Bucyrus for 30 years, died of heart trouble at his home in that city.

The community civic council of Prospect, a newly-organized citizens' group for the improvement of that village, discussed a health center, park improvements, perpetuation of the library and other community projects at its second meeting held at the library.

Miss Helen Fidler of South Main street returned from Washington, D. C. where she had completed a year's training course as a physical therapy technician. She was one of 10 young women chosen from over the country the preceding year to enter the training course conducted at Walter Reed General hospital.

Thirteen children of the Junior Shakespeare club held a picnic at Garfield park. Before going to the park the children gave an especially prepared version of "As You Like It" directed by the sponsor, Miss Kathryn Schneider, at her home on Forest street.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

It was Tuesday, July 26, 1927.

Mme. Ernestine Schumann-Heink, returning to the United States from her first visit to Germany and Austria since the World war, announced she was expecting to sing in a series of 70 concerts. The great singer, who had been 66 on June 15 said "I am still the war horse, champing at the bit. I feel as young as Lindbergh."

George Pfann, famous football star who had been a student at Oxford, England during the preceding year, arrived for a visit with his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Evans of St. James street.

Miss Mildred Kiehl entertained at a bridge party in her home on Windsor street honoring her house guest, Miss Mary Harritt of Columbus.

Eight members of the T.J.C. club including Miss Mary Hughs of Columbus, formerly of Marion, met for a picnic at the home of Miss Betty Harrison in Caledonia.

Conservatism or Flabbiness?

By JOSEPH and STEWART ALSOP

WASHINGTON, July 26—The just finished session of the Eightieth congress leaves behind one big political question: "Just how conservative is the Republican party?" It has been bitterly remarked that on a secret ballot, a good many Republicans in congress (like a good many southern Democrats) would cheerfully vote to shoot the poor. But no party is to be judged by its lunatic fringe. The real problem—vital in view of the prospects for 1948—is to know where the true Republican average lies.

The peculiar nature of the Republican strategy makes the problem difficult. Knowing that the Republican record in congress would play a large part in the coming election, the party's congressional leaders tacitly agreed on a decidedly astute plan. This session was to be devoted to legislation desired by business, such as the Taft-Hartley labor law and the tax relief bills. The next session was to be (and presumably still is to be) given to measures with a broader-based appeal, such as the Taft housing, education and welfare bills.

The Republicans and southern Democrats have whooped through the measures business wanted with loud cries of joy. Now the problem is whether Senator Robert A. Taft and the other Republican leaders can shove, drag or otherwise persuade the rank and file to approve the extremely mild program of social legislation. Certain powerful business elements emphatically do not want this social legislation. And judging by the record of these elements' influence in the session just concluded, the outlook for the next session is none too good.

Lobbyists Busy

In a previous report in this space, the power lobby's entering wedge to bring back the bad old days has already been described. On other fronts, the swarming lobbyists of special business interests have been earning their fat salaries with even more conspicuous success.

In the field of housing, for example, such prospering spokesmen of free enterprise as Morton Bodfish, of the United States Savings and Home League, have been exceedingly active.

The Taft housing bill has been partly emasculated in the senate committee, and completely blocked in the house. Meanwhile the effort of former Housing Administrator Wilson Wyatt has been completely wrecked; the administration's feeble post-Wyatt struggles to do something about housing have been rendered even feebler; and the so-called voluntary rent hike has been shoved through the congress.

The rent hike did not suit the housing lobby. They wanted all ceilings off. And such warm sympathizers as Senator John W. Bricker, of Ohio, (who once remarked the "Marxists must have gotten to Bob Taft, because of the Taft housing bill) did their best to help the lobby. At a Republican conference, Bricker openly urged slipping a complete decontrol bill through this congress, on the ground that the next session would be too fearful of the embattled tenants to pass such legislation. He concluded his plea with the revealing remark that if the conference did not go along with him, "it wouldn't be the kind of Republican party he was used to." Bricker did not get his way, but the score for the lobby must be rated at a handsome 85 per cent.

Victims of "Nostalgia"

Another symptomatic episode was the passage of the wool bill, which did such serious harm abroad despite President Truman's veto. Byron Wilson and his National Wool Growers of course control the votes of the wool states. But the rest of the senators and representatives who made up the wool bill's majorities seemed to be chiefly influenced by notalgia for the happy past times of tariff log rolling. The somewhat bemused Representative Pace of Georgia (one of the Republicans' leading southern Democratic allies) told the house that so far as he knew "there was not a sheep" in his 3rd congress district. But, he asked, how was he to get help for his peanuts if he did not help wool?

Then a well-organized group of about 20,000 large western ranchers have scored a major triumph. Their aim was to enrich themselves from the public lands at the expense of the whole West. They first tried to have the vast western public lands sold to them outright at bargain basement prices. This grab failed. So the ranchers turned to the always obliging appropriations committees, and cut the gizzard out of the interior department's funds for protecting the public lands from over-grazing. With little or no supervision these lands, which are one of the great assets of the American people, can now be profitably destroyed by the large ranchers. Who cares if the resulting erosion may well bring ruin to millions of less influential citizens of the West?

Question Raised

There is no space here to describe the gaggles of railroad lobbyists who have pushed the Bulwinkle and Reed bills and all the others like them. The main point is that this congress has shown a remarkable responsiveness to special business interests. This responsiveness is deeply feared by such wise Republicans as Senator Ives, of New York. It poses a strikingly difficult problem for such leaders as Senator Taft, who must beat the housing lobby in order to pass his housing bill. And, above all, it raises the question whether Republican conservatism is simply to consist of flabby yielding to this type of pressure, or is to be the genuine conservatism which conserves what is good without fear or favor.

The Once Over

By H. I. PHILLIPS

The Yacht Club Cruise

This is the season of the Yacht Club Cruise. A cruise is a salt-water outing in which you cook on the bias, dine upside down and take your afterdinner chat on your hands and knees.

It is a demonstration of seeming to enjoy yourself while dripping all over; a test of stamina while in a state of permanent dampness over a set period.

Along about this time every summer a yacht club decides that it must go through its annual cruise. It has an advantage over the auto trip in that left-hand turns are always permitted and detours are decreed by the wind and the sea, not by a street commissioner or police department.

A cruise is said to have begun when the club presents the curious spectacle of men and women fluttering to the deck, bearing mattresses, miscellaneous junk and assorted groceries, accompanied by the rattle of bottles and cries of "Wilbert, did you remember the corkscrew?"

But there is this to be said for the cruise. It eliminates the grasping summer hotel manager, the mixup over road signs and the ever-present lure of the hot-dog stand. On a cruise you know where you are going to sleep, even if you don't know how. There can be no dispute over the reservations or cross ventilation. Once aboard the lugger you are in for the duration.

A cruise offers the club members a chance to display their ideas on yachting attire and have fun with the people that don't speak to them on dry land and be generally democratic in a damp condition.

It offers a chance to get away from the minor cares of a comfortable home and enjoy the discomforts of life in narrower quarters. It proves that many a man and woman who would shrink at the idea of sleeping in a horizontal phone booth on dry land will call it high adventure at sea.

The little woman who fires a maid a month for not keeping the bedroom cosy in the orthodox domicile will climb onto a shelf in a rolling boat, put her head on a bag of cement, pull a wet sheet over her and chortle "Isn't Masefield wonderful?"

She will squawk in a ten-room house if the new electric range has less than six burners and the kitchen is less than a square mile, but declares it delightful to whip up a meal at sea with all the freedom enjoyed by housekeeping in a hall closet.

Cast off, commodore! Ahoy for the sport of looking for the aspirin bottle in a heavy sea!

Run for the Money

By TRUMAN TWILL

Yesterday morning before the neighborhood had brushed its teeth and was ready to face life another day, two beautiful fire trucks came screaming down the street and coasted to a jangling halt in front of the house across the street, third one up. The trucks were joined in less than a minute by the crimson passenger car that whisks the head firefighter to the scene of action.

This worthy disappeared in the direction of the house. Meanwhile, his firemen were reeling out hose for chemicals and water, breaking out fire axes, hoisting the hood of the truck that was going to pump the water and moving about briskly and professionally. Whatever was going on inside the house where the fire was would be under control soon, no doubt.

Actually, no one knew what was going on, nor would this be known for at least 15 more minutes—the time needed for the quickest dressers to throw themselves together, go across the street, pick up the story and come back. But it wasn't important, under the circumstances. Obviously, the fire—whatever it might be—wasn't going to cause any considerable damage because there was no flame and no sign of smoke outside the house. The neighborhood settled down to enjoy the fire trucks.

Fire-fighting equipment is the greatest show on earth for the taxpayers' money. Whatever the critics may find wrong with fire departments in general and some departments in particular, they must admit that for dramatic value nothing better has been thought up than a bright-red truck with plenty of gleaming metal, a siren, a bell and a crew of helmeted firemen.

Kids have quit envying railroad engineers and want to be aviators. They have quit wanting to be cops and want to be G-men. They have taken up electronics, and Hollywood's photogenic lovelies. But there isn't a kid in a million who wouldn't give his next week's allowance for a ride on a fire truck, even a 20-year-old one that never changes.

As far as that's concerned, there aren't many adults who wouldn't admit a secret longing to play fireman. And there are no adults at all who don't turn to watch the fire trucks on their way to and from fires, who don't glance at them at the fire houses when the doors are open, who don't chase them if the time can be spared—and who wouldn't fiddle away a half hour of the boss's time watching the firefighters put on their free show if it happened to be staged across the street early tomorrow morning.

This will explain, bossy, why Twill was late to work yesterday morning. You see, we had just paid the taxes the day before and the free show, in a manner of speaking, belonged to us. The fire department gives the public an exciting run for its money, which is more than can be said for most of the other municipal operating expenses.

Zone Tries To Pay Way in Junk

By The Associated Press

HAMBURG—The British military government of Germany has set up in the junk business in a big way.

In an effort to wipe out some of the crippling cost of running the zone—borne by the British taxpayer—a special disposals group is selling surplus stores of both the British and German armies.

There are five dumps of British surplus stores and 70 of former Wehrmacht equipment.

Biggest item is surplus vehicles, thousands of which line the autobahn between Hamburg and Bremen and between Hamburg and Lubeck. A further 10,000 have been declared surplus by the Rhine Army bringing the total of vehicles for sale at 65,000, already 17,150 have been sold to Denmark, Holland and Belgium.

Fervent Prayer

A Sermonette

By REV. GARRISON ROEBUCK

Pastor of First Evangelical United Brethren Church

Text: James 5:16. "The effectual fervent prayer of a righteous man availeth much."

I PROPOSE in this brief message, to mention a few of the things that effectual fervent praying will do. The text tells us that such a prayer of a righteous man availeth much. I wish to suggest three things that prayer will accomplish.

▶What it does for the individual who offers the prayer. I believe that all the great men and women of the Bible were men and women of prayer. To mention a few, there were such praying people as Moses, Jacob, David, Esther, Elijah, Samuel, Daniel, the disciples, Paul and Jesus. This is true of the great Christian characters who have lived since Jesus lived in human flesh. The individual approaches God through Christ and the avenues of prayer. It enriches the believer's spiritual life. It is the means of making contact with God's storehouse of divine grace and power. The men and women who have been used of God most in the work of the kingdom have been the persons who, through prayer, have availed themselves of this divine power. "Ask and ye shall receive." Some have not, because they ask not. It is the way to peace within the heart. It is the way to individual Christian growth. There are several hundred references in the Bible to the subject of prayer. The Master spent entire nights in prayer and if He found it advantageous to pray, then we, too, certainly stand in the need of prayer. In more ways than one prayer does something for the believer. It will do something for the unbeliever, providing he confesses his need of Christ and calls upon God for grace and pardon.

▶We shall now consider what a person's prayer can do for others. Prayer can bring others to Christ. In First John 5:16 we read, "If any man see his brother sin a sin which is not unto death, he shall ask, and He shall give him life for them that sin not unto death." Here we are plainly told that if we be alive unto Christ we can pray and by so doing bring life to those who are spiritually dead. There is nothing else we can do that will avail so much to bring the dead to life, to bring the lost to Christ, as prayer. This is not to imply that there isn't something else for us to do besides pray. Having prayed to God for others, we must do what we can to help God answer the prayer. Some want to see their unsaved friends saved and will pray for their salvation, but are unwilling to go to that person and point out to them "the Lamb of God that taketh away the sin of the world." If we are willing to go where God would have us go, then prayer will do more toward bringing others to Christ and the church than any other power at our disposal. Prayer avails when everything else fails. Cities are plunged into darkness when men at the switchboards go to sleep and fail to make the connections. So will this city or any other city be plunged into spiritual darkness, when those called of God to spend time at the switchboard of prayer, go to sleep and fail to connect up God's power with the darkened souls of men.

▶Now in the third place, prayer brings blessings to the church. Prayer will possibly do more to remove misunderstanding and divisions in churches than anything that can be done. Prayer will do more to bring a spiritual awakening in the churches of the land than all the church machinery that can be set up. The great revival at Pentecost was preceded by a ten-day prayer meeting. It is true, I believe, that much prayer has preceded all the great revivals that have been held through the centuries. Many things contributed to the remarkable success of the early Christian church, but the most potent factor of all was the fact that those early followers of Jesus were men and women of prayer. More and better attended prayer meetings are the need of the hour. With this condition existing, churches would take on new life and be blessed with the power of God. More souls would find their way to Christ through the message of the church. Brethren, shall we not pray more?

Miss Helen Parrish, the daughter of missionaries to India, will be the guest speaker tomorrow night at First Evangelical United Brethren church, in a program sponsored by the members of the local Women's Society of World Service.

Her parents were sent out by the foreign missions board of the Pentecostal Holiness church. They have spent nine years of active service on the field.

She attended boarding school in Landour, Mussorie U. P., India, 836 miles from her parents. Since returning to the United States her father was appointed pastor of a Toledo church, but has resigned there to take over a church in Buffalo, N. Y.

Born in Hagarihah, Bihar province, India, the daughter returned with her parents to this country when she was about seven months old. She lived in this country until she was seven years old, when the family again went to India. They remained there until they were forced to return to the United States because of the war. At the present time she is attending school in Toledo. On graduation next June, she plans to take Bible training at Holmes Bible college, Greenville, S. C. She intends then to return to India, where she will study nursing at Presidency hospital at Calcutta. After she receives her nursing degree, she plans to devote herself to a life of service as a medical missionary, helping "the unfortunate women of that land." Her stories will be of her experiences in India, and she will describe present conditions there.

Fish Found in Upper Railroad Water Tower

By International News Service

UPPER SANDUSKY, July 26—Fishing on dry land was the latest fish story to come to light today.

A crew of Pennsylvania railroad employes had the task of cleaning the railroad's water tower at Upper Sandusky. They drained the structure and found 20 carp ranging in weight from three to six pounds.

The fish apparently were drawn into the tank with water from the Sandusky river.

MRS. TRUMAN

walking within a few days. However, on May 16 she suffered two sinking spells. General Graham ascribed the condition to a weakening heart.

President Truman, notified of the situation, flew home, landing in a thunderstorm.

Cheered by the arrival of her son, Mrs. Truman was able to sit up for three hours the next day, talking with the President and other members of the family.

The President spent a 12-day vigil at her bedside at that time, and physicians said Mrs. Truman's condition showed a remarkable improvement. They said it was due to the presence of her son who stayed by her constantly through the long days.

"She has sat up with me many times," the devoted son said. "Now the least I can do is to sit with her when she needs me."

The President converted a room adjacent to the sick room into temporary executive offices, and much of the nation's business was transacted from the modest cottage.

He spent the nights at the Muehlebach hotel where he could be summoned instantly if needed.

Cleveland Santa Claus Hunts for Place To Live

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, July 26—"Santa Claus" is facing eviction and needs a place to live.

He is Bert Elsbury, 66, possessor of a natural Kris Kringle beard, and president of the Santa Claus club of Cleveland, and organization of 18 men who do professional duty each Christmas season in local department stores.

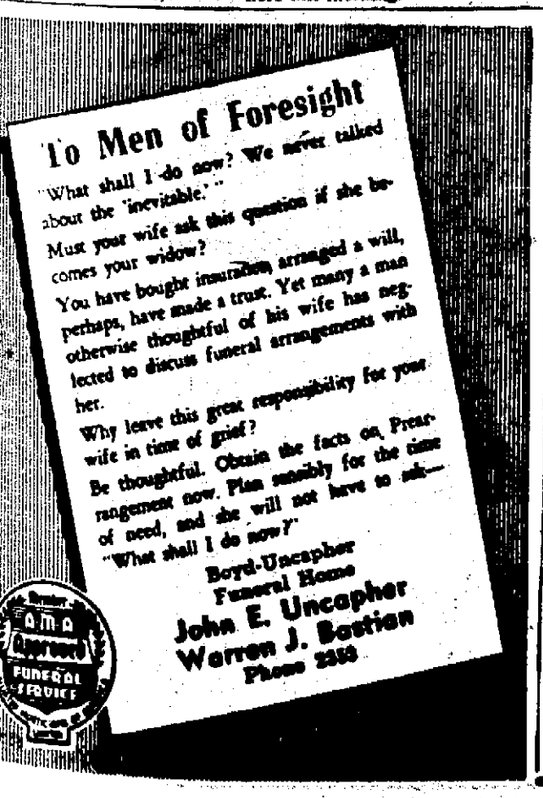
For the past two years Elsbury, his wife, 39, and their two young children have been living in an apartment in the old Myron T. Herrick mansion at 2425 Euclid Ave. Elsbury has an old age pension and works in a parking lot at times.

Last February Penn college purchased the property for an expansion program and nine of the 15 families living there found other quarters. Elsbury was among those who could find none.

Committee Hears Report On City Record Work

Ralph Howard of 234 Summit street, Marion law student who is engaged this summer in recodifying city ordinances, resolutions and other acts of council, explained the nature of the project yesterday at a meeting of the legislative committee of the Marion Chamber of Commerce. The meeting followed a luncheon at Hotel Harding.

Work on the city records was provided in recent legislation by council and is being carried on under the direction of Mayor Harry L. Dowler. Council acted to have the work done on the recommendation of the C. of C. committee which is made up of attorneys and lay members.



To Men of Foresight
What shall I do now? We never talked about the "inevitable."
Must your wife ask this question if she becomes your widow?
You have bought insurance, arranged a will, perhaps, have made a trust. Yet many a man otherwise thoughtful of his wife has neglected to discuss funeral arrangements with her.
Why leave this great responsibility for your wife in time of grief?
Be thoughtful. Obtain the facts on Prearrangement now. Plan suitably for the time of need, and she will not have to ask—"What shall I do now?"

AVOID THIS

"We talked of doing this years ago" remarked a widow recently who was left with the responsibility of choosing a family burial lot.

It is a responsibility and choice that belongs to both husband and wife. Make your choice now for the protection against having to make this hurried selection when death compels it.

House Plan Offers Way To Build Part at Time, Yet Have Complete Home

YOUR HOME TODAY AND TOMORROW

by W. Wadsworth Wood

Plans for the Hunting Lodge

The plans shown here are intended to illustrate how the most economical type of fishing-shack, hunting lodge, or weekend retreat, may be arranged to the best advantage and with a minimum of actual cost.

To begin with, the exterior treatment may be anything that your finances permit. If economy is the paramount idea, the small house may be of shed-roof construction with plain tongue and grooved finish treated with a coat of brown-stained linseed oil. If a more elaborate scheme is in order, you can finish the exterior with slabs cut from the rough log, and which will give the house a typical log-cabin appearance. Any and all methods of finishing the exterior will be appropriate.

The first plan shows a very compact, functional interior. There is a large general living-room with provision for two built-in beds or bunks. There is a kitchen with a dining-counter and a bathroom with the three standard fixtures. There is a foyer at the entrance with a large clothes closet.

The second plan is actually a development of the first one. The living room is about the same size, but provided for two beds and a book-case, or three beds without the book-case. The bedroom provides for a double bed or two singles plus enormous closet and storage space. Closet space is doubled in this plan. Kitchen facilities and a complete bath are available.

The cost of the second plan will be about 20 per cent greater in labor and material, than the cost of building a house under the first suggestion.

There are probably several hundred thousand people in this country who own vacant land which they have bought with the intention of building upon. The present high cost of construction has prevented much building. In the two plans shown here, there is a great chance for economical building combined with complete convenience. It is not necessary to have a week-end retreat which is merely a shack. If you plan the small house efficiently in the beginning, you can improve it with each visit, and end up with a really valuable and comfortable establishments.

FIRST AID TO AILING HOUSE

—By ROGER C. WHITMAN—

Drafty Windows

Q. Two years ago I had all my doors and windows weather-stripped. But when a strong west wind blows, the cold air seeps through around the sash cords, which makes it too unpleasant to sit near the windows. Would removing the sash cords and filling the space where the weights hang with insulation solve my problem?

A. A much better solution to your problem is to put up snug-fitting storm sash on the drafty windows, and on all the others as well, if you can manage to do so. If the storm sash cannot be budgeted for, you could seal up the openings where the cords pass through with a gummed tape, which can easily be taken off when warm weather comes. Heavy curtains would also serve to keep out the cold.

Damage from Leak

Q. Due to a leak from one of the bathroom fixtures, the ceiling and wall below became wet in one place, causing an unpleasant odor of paper and plaster. This has happened on and off for the past 10 years. Now I plan to put down an inlaid linoleum, doing the work myself. The plumber told me that the boards have rotted a little. Would it be safe to lay the linoleum? And how about the ceiling and wall downstairs, also the inner wall? I must save expenses.

A. You would do well to put off laying the linoleum to find out whether or not the dampness in the walls dries out after the leak has been taken care of. If the odor continues after several weeks have passed, it is likely that the plaster has disintegrated and a replastering job will be needed. The rotted boards should also be replaced with sound lumber. A building contractor could make a thorough examination and tell you just what the condition is.

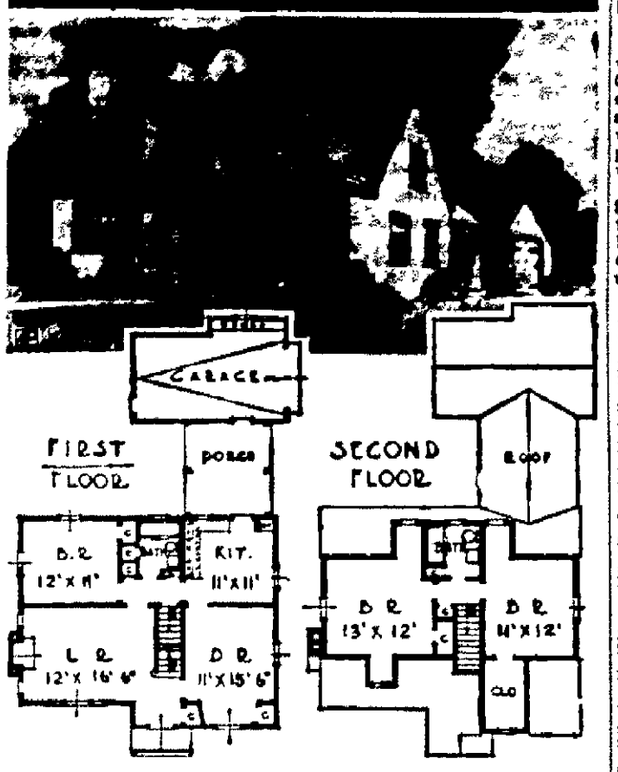
HOMES FOR AMERICANS



By The Associated Press

Planned to circumvent high building costs, this house is designed for utilization of materials obtainable in stock patterns and sizes. It has a layout for sectional building with breezeway and garage optional for economy and a second floor that can be left unfinished for the present and still leave a complete house. The tub in the first floor lavatory-powder room can be omitted if the bathroom on the second floor is installed. The main house, without porch and garage, contains 17,280 cubic feet. It can be built on a lot with a 65-foot frontage. A. Raymond Ellis, Box 191, West Hartford, Conn., is the architect. This is his Plan No. 732. He considers a house of this type "a good investment because it is easy to build and maintain, has a high mortgage value and resale possibilities."

Jungle Rats On Display Next Week

Large jungle rats native to the islands of the South Pacific will be shown in Marion Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday by Billy Barlow, a former GI who is touring the country with them. Mr. Barlow said the rats were captured in the Caroline islands where they frequently raided mess halls. Their aggressive character plagued soldiers on the islands during the war, he said. They will eat shoes or other leather goods, he said.

The rats measure about three feet from nose to tail. Only males of the species were permitted in this country. Some of the rats have teeth one and one quarter inches long.

The exhibit will be open from noon to 10 p. m. at the parking lot just north of Center street on the east side of North Prospect street each of the three days.

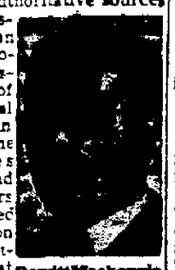
Western Democracies Declare Independence in UN Fight Talk

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

The unprecedented tongue-lashing administered by American and British representatives to Russian speakers in United Nations meetings Wednesday, during heated debate over the extremely dangerous Balkan situation, looks to your correspondent like a declaration of independence by the democracies.

And I don't seem to be alone in this thought, because some UN delegates have expressed the view that the future of the peace organization might depend on the outcome of this verbal battle of the Balkans. Authoritative sources say that if Russia betoes an American proposal for the establishment of an international border-watch in the Balkans, the United States and Britain and their supporters might feel forced to take action outside the United Nations. That of course would be the finish—or close to it—of the UN.



Dewitt Mackenzie

Delayed Action

Wednesday's upheaval really was the product of several explosions in separate meetings. One of these came in the security council which was considering the bitterly debated borderwatch along the frontiers of Albania, Bulgaria and Yugoslavia, three Soviet satellites which are accused by Athens of aiding the Communist rebellion in Greece—a charge confirmed by a majority of the UN investigating commission in the Balkans.

American Deputy Delegate Herschel V. Johnson suddenly erupted with the declaration that Yugoslavia, Bulgaria and Albania were a menace to international peace. He said there wasn't the slightest evidence of civil liberties in these three countries, and demanded that the council warn them to leave other people's affairs alone, lest a war break out in the Balkans affecting the whole world. Strong mustard, that!

Then in the UN membership committee Soviet Delegate Gromyko's chief deputy Alexei Krasilnikov, drew hot fire when he blasted the western powers for their opposition to the admission of Albania and accused them of attempting to undermine the "young people's republic." This brought Britain's Valentine Lawford to his feet with the assertion that the Russian's speech was "junk." Lawford said it was deplorable that UN delegates should be subject to such tirades day after day. The United States and Australia joined in blasting the Soviet representative.

Oppose Russians

That wasn't all. U. S. Assistant Secretary of State Willard Thorp told the economic and social council that America was strongly opposed to the Russian proposal to prohibit international loans for military purposes. This was taken to be tantamount to saying that America has no intention of abandoning the Truman doctrine of giving aid to countries which are threatened by aggressive communism.

Well, where does this declaration of independence carry us? Supposing the western democracies should feel compelled to take action outside the United nations because the Soviet veto stymies effective action within the organization?

It could (and probably would) mean that chances of making the UN a going concern were virtually nil—a sad blow to a world which, by and large, wants peace and has been banking on this successor to the League of Nations. Still, the cold fact is that the UN thus far hasn't been able to get into action as a protector of peace because of the split between the Russian bloc and the western democracies. And one sees no signs of a break in this deadlock.

House Spends $5 Billion While Capital Writer Scratches Ear

By FREDERICK C. OTHMAN
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, July 26—The gavels of Messrs. Arthur H. Vandenberg and Joseph W. Martin Jr., were beating out a rumba rythm.

And each time the silver-bound oaken mallet in the senate and the unbound walnut club in the house hit the table—boom—another couple of hundred million dollars went on the books. The lawmakers were rushing toward adjournment tonight and the way they were spending my money was enough to make my poor head swim. Most of the time I couldn't even tell how much money they were sperding for what, so rapidly did the gavels whack.

Not that I'm complaining. Nor am I charging the legislators with lack of prudence. For weeks and even months they'd haggled among themselves — back and forth between the house and senate on shaving off another dime here and 15 cents there. Now they were taking final action, adopting conference reports, and (this understatement) they were wasting no time.

Spends $5,000,000,000

The house spent $5,000,000,000—it honestly did—while I turned my head to scratch my ear. I think I'd better tell you about it:

At 2:25 p. m. Rep. Albert J. Engel of Mich., the terrible tempered enemy of extravagant military gentlemen, brought up the completed $5,482,000,000 (?) war department appropriation. He announced immediately that he didn't like all the chitter-chatter; he said if his fellow congressman didn't shut their mouths he'd sit down and let them talk. Quiet descended upon the house of representatives. The portly Rep. Engel began to introduce 92 senate amendments to the bill, adding a few millions in one place and taking away a few millions in another.

Bang-bang-bang-bankety-bang, went Speaker Martin's gavel as amendment after amendment was accepted. At about amendment 22 (I'd lost count) Rep. Engel said Rep. Francis Case of S. D. wanted to say a few words.

"Too Many Majors"

Yep, said Rep. Case, he just wanted to point out that the good old army had asked for dough to keep 20,000 majors, first lieutenants, and 4,000 second looies. This was a cockeyed arrangement, he said. And the amendment merely cut down the number of gents with gold oak leaves on their shoulders and increased the quantity of shave-tails. Incidentally, he said, this saved us taxpayers $70,000,000. Bang, bang and bang.

Twenty minutes later we'd finished with amendment number 36. Rep. Engel said he thought it would be a good idea to group amendments 37 to 92 and consider 'em enbloc. Bang! So be it.

My ear was beginning to itch when Rep. Gerald W. Landis of Ind., said he had another idea. Why not suspend the rule and pass the bill as was?

Bang! The rules were suspended. I'd hardly turned my head and touched my ear, when bang No 2 reverberated through the steel rafters. The gentlemen of the press shot out of the gallery as if jet-propelled

I sat there lonesome and a little dazed. Pretty soon Sandy Klein, chief of the house UP staff, returned. "What happened?" I asked.

"They just appropriated five billion dollars," he replied.

My ear quit itching. I think it's cured.

OHIO SLASHES PRICES OF OVERSTOCKED LIQUOR

Latest Move to Get Rid of Supplies to Take Effect Monday.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., July 26—Ohio liquor Director Dale Dunifon today ordered price cuts, effective Monday, on more than $600,000 worth of slow-moving liquor brands in the state's first move to unload a top-heavy spirits liquor inventory of a reported $40,000,000.

Dunifon announced cut-rate prices on 17,000 cases of 16 brands would be posted at state liquor stores. He said cuts would be made in prices of three brands of rum, two brandies and five cordials and liqueurs, three of which had failed to sell following previous reduced prices.

Estimated loss to the state by lowering the prices, Dunifon said, would be about $350,000. The brands now are on sale at $100,000 below their cost to the department, Dunifon said, adding that the approximate $250,000 profit that would have been realized if the goods were sold at regular markup had to be included in figuring the loss.

The reduction ordered followed closely upon the liquor director's statement yesterday that federal laws might make it impossible to force distillers to take back some of the allegedly excessive stock as Dunifon previously had said he intended to do.

000 for navigation work on the Apalachicola, Chattahoochee and Flint Rivers, Ga. and Fal., and $750,000 for the Black Warrior, Warrior and Tombigbee rivers, Ala.

Aims at Flood Control

Except for about $88,000,000 for the Panama canal and other non-military operations of the department, the appropriation is for construction, maintenance and planning of water projects, mostly flood control.

While the committee trimmed funds for some projects in the senate bill and eliminated two, the great bulk remained unchanged, among them the gigantic Garrison reservoir, S. D., and other works involving hydro-electric development as well as flood control, navigation and related water utilization.

The two items knocked from the bill were $6,000,000 for Oahe reservoir, S. D., and $3,000,000 for Red Rock reservoir, Iowa. Both were transferred to a planning program, Oahe getting $850,000 for that purpose and Red Rock $800,000

Fund Remains Unchanged

A breakdown of a total water project appropriation of $419,000,000 allows $302,000,000 for flood control and $117,000,000 for navigation construction, maintenance and planning A $50,000,000 fund for the lower Mississippi valley remained unchanged by the conferees.

91 Today, G. B. Shaw Scorns Birthday Mush

By The Associated Press

LONDON, July 26—George Bernard Shaw, 91 today, dismissed the occasion with snorts of mock exasperation and the assertion that few others could have survived so much "happy birthday rubbish."

"Birthday celebrations are for those who think they can afford to waste time," the sage of Ayot St Lawrence, drowsy Hertfordshire hamlet, told his listeners "I've hardly recovered from the last birthday. It nearly killed me—and it would have killed most men.

"Whoever utters that word, 'birthday,' in my presence shall be set down as a man to be avoided."

Since early yesterday the postman has been delivering a good deal of "happy birthday rubbish"—letters and telegrams from all over the world—the spacious, comfortable, exceedingly homelike retreat of the playwright-philosopher.

Shaw said he would spend his birthday working as usual in his outdoor study, instead of gadding about the country and winding up in London, where he maintains an apartment. He went to London a year ago—and still regrets it, he says.

Steel Price Pattern Seen in Recent Hikes

By The United Press

CLEVELAND, July 26 — The magazine Steel predicted today that a pattern for the entire steel industry has been set by the $5 to $10 per ton price increases recently announced by independent producers.

Steel reported an industry spokesman said other companies could be expected to follow suit on the price increases within a few days.

The steel price raises will cause "substantial" increases in production costs of consumer durable and capital goods, the magazine said. It estimated the steel costs for building an automobile would rise from $10 to $15 a car.

Price increases so far have been announced by the American Rolling Mill Co., of Middletown, O., and Republic Steel Corp., the nation's third largest producer.

Police Seek To Identify Slain "Woman" Bandit

By The Associated Press

DAYTON, O., July 26—Detectives clung to the slim hope today that a laundry mark found on clothing worn by a female impersonator slain during an alleged holdup attempt Thursday night might be the clue that would identify him.

Capt. C. L. McElhaney, chief of Dayton detectives, said the laundry mark was a printed name, "Hart," and had been found on the impersonator's underclothing The impersonator was slain by James Bennett, a neighbor who was said to have surprised him and a companion while they were attempting to bind and gag Mrs. R. S. Thompson, 60-year-old wife of a retired railroad worker, after employing a ruse to enter her home.

The detective chief said fingerprints and other information about the dead impersonator now were at Washington for examination by the FBI in the hope identity might be established there.

JOAN CRAWFORD and Van Heflin, co-stars of "Possessed," now playing at the Ohio theater through Thursday, are supported by a large cast including Raymond Massey and Feraldine Brooks.

Abbott and Costello Picture Coming To Palace Theater

"Buck Privates Come Home" starring Abbott and Costello and James Mason in "Odd Man Out" opened today at the Palace theater and will be seen through Tuesday.

The comedy, the 19th film starring Bud Abbott and Lou Costello, is a sequel to their first film, and tells the story about the woes and woes of two war vets who return home to find a country full of starving people—starving for whatever they can get out of ex-soldiers. The two cast as the ex-GI's are almost never out of hot water but their attempts to get out are as usual hilarious.

Odd Man Out

"Odd Man Out," the second half of the double feature, is the story of an eight-hour interlude in the life of a hunted, wounded man played by Mason. Weak from loss of blood and dying from his injury, he is discovered by co-star Robert Newton who gives an amazing performance as a drink crazed artist.

On Wednesday only Tommy Tucker and his orchestra will appear in person on the Palace stage. The screen hit billed for that night is "Dark Delusion" with Lionel Barrymore, Lucille Bremer and James Craig.

Resuming his role as Dr. Gillespie in the medical drama series Mr. Barrymore again fills the bill as medical-detective who is forced finally to solve the case of a beautiful patient who believes she is going insane. The action is laid in a small town with excursions into the great Blair General hospital and its medical activities.

"The Egg and I" starring Claudette Colbert and Fred MacMurray with Marjorie Main, Louise Albritton and Richard Long will open Thursday and continue for a full week.

Based on Best Seller

The two stars are cast as Betty and Bob in the hilarious film based on Betty MacDonald's best seller which tells the story of a young honeymoon couple who leave the city and the sophisticated life for the rugged one on a budding chicken ranch where they try to make a living in the mountain-wilderness.

MacMurray is cast as the slow-witted, pre-occupied husband who is unable to recognize the fact that his wife is working herself to death with ancient inconveniences with the "stove" heading the list.

The Kettle family, a shiftless, unpredictable but mirth-provoking family are portrayed with Marjorie Main and Percy Kilbride as the head of the tribe. The film is packed with chuckles and downright howls of delight.

A program is held each Saturday morning designed especially for children and includes a series of cartoons. July 26 the bill also includes "Swiss Family Robinson."

Joan Crawford Starred in Picture Playing Through Thursday.

"Possessed" co-starring Joan Crawford and Van Heflin now playing at the Ohio theater and continuing through Thursday tells the story of a woman's unrequited love for a confirmed bachelor who refuses to be caught in the web of marriage.

Miss Crawford portrays a mentally ill guest in Los Angeles General hospital, her disorder resulting mainly from the lack of response from Van Heflin, the man of her choice. Raymond Massey, as Miss Crawford's husband, heads the supporting cast.

June Haver and Mark Stevens are co-starred in the technicolor musical "I Wonder Who's Kissing Her Now" which plays for seven days starting Friday.

The film is based on the true experiences of Joe Howard, the fabulous troubadour - composer, whose many hit ballads kept people whistle-happy at the turn of the century. A number of Howard songs, including the title song, are heard in the picture. Mark Stevens portrays Joe Howard, Miss Haver is seen as the girl he passes up only to wish later that he hadn't.

Stevens as Joe Howard is cast as a rolling stone that left a trail of melody from coast to coast and wherever he went there was sure to be a lovely face, a trim ankle and the fragrant memory of melodies that can never be forgotten.

Marion Shows "Duel in Sun"

Technicolor Picture To Run at Local Theater Through Next Wednesday.

"Duel in the Sun" starring Joseph Cotten, Gregory Peck and Jennifer Jones opened yesterday at the Marion theater and will continue through Wednesday.

The technicolor film is an adaptation by Oliver Garrett as suggested by a novel by Niven Busch and while it is historical in pattern, David O. Selznick has drawn his characters sharp and clear.

An academy award winner, Miss Jones who has proven herself one of the most versatile and sensitive actresses, again gives a memorable performance as the fiery, half-breed, Pearl Chavez. Gregory Peck is cast as the reckless, lawless suitor, and Joseph Cotten, the third of the starring trio appears as Peck's brother giving an appealing performance.

The film is the story of huge human conflict unfolding the tale of a land baron, his devoted but unhappy wife, his two sons, one of weak character, the other of strong will and purpose and of a half-breed girl who comes to live with them.

One particularly tense scene shows the land baron's men lining up to oppose the immigrant invasion of the railroad, another is the colorful fiesta scene at the sprawling Texas ranch.

Musical score by Dimitri Tiomkin heightens the dramatic effort of many of the important scenes.

The state of Washington has 46,048 miles of highways.

MARION LEGION TEAM LOSES 1ST TILT, 5-0

Bows To St. Charles Juniors; To Play Plain City Club Today

By GEORGE ROEST

Marion's American Legion junior baseball team came to the end of their victory trail yesterday afternoon at Columbus.

They bowed, 5-0, to Watson Fords of Columbus—a team composed of high school players from Columbus St. Charles, a parochial school. It was the second district tournament start for the Marion club and the first defeat of the year. The game was played on an O. S. U. diamond.

The locals were unable to get to Jim O'Neill, no-hit pitcher the day before, and looked bad in the field. O'Neill went six innings for Columbus striking out nine and allowing only three hits. His relief, Ronnie Hord, looked even better, as none of the nine men he faced reached first. He struckout four.

Owens Matches O'Neill

Losing pitcher Jack Owens matched O'Neill's strikeouts over the route and most of Columbus' runs could have been averted with tighter playing.

A break gave Columbus their winning run in the third. Cannata walked to start the inning, then was ruled safe by umpire Cass when he slid under Rea who received catcher Thomas' throw in time to make the put out. He was singled in by Berendt after Eichner struck out.

Columbus big inning was the fifth. Mulby hit with one away and went to second on a wild pitch. Marion shortstop Dick Roseberry, moved in too fast on Hord's grounder, muffing his chance to make a second out, Mulby going to third. No play was made on Hord, who advanced to second and both runners advanced another base on Owen's second wild pitch of the inning.

Caught Stealing

The second out was made by O'Neill who flied to Rea at second. Yoll singled to send Hord in, stole second, and went home when Ralston let a good, but hard, throw from Rea get through him. He was caught stealing to end the inning.

The fifth run was made in the seventh when Berendt scored from third after Ralston attempting to catch Mulby off second after putting Hord out at first, made a bad throw to D. Roseberry.

The loss did not eliminate the locals from the tournament. Today they are playing Plain City at the O. S. U. diamond in a certain elimination for the loser and tomorrow the winner will meet St. Charles, again, at the State hospital field in Columbus.

ZANESVILLE, LIMA, SPRINGFIELD WIN IN OSL AS CUBS LOAF

Voss' "Frank Merriwell" Finish for Giants Is Only League Highlight.

Pitcher Jim Voss' "Frank Merriwell" finish in the Springfield-Newark game last night stood today as the lone highlight of a three game Ohio State league card.

After almost throwing away the game twice, Voss stepped to the plate in the last half of the tenth inning and smashed a 7-all tie by knocking the ball out of the lot.

Zanesville's Dodgers used 16 hits and seven Dayton errors advantageously while trimming the Indians, 12-4, avenging a twin-loss sustained Thursday night. At Muncie, Ind., the Lima Terriers dropped the Hoosier Packers, 8-5. Richmond and Marion had open dates.

Springfield's victory and the Dayton, Muncie losses tied the battling for third and fourth place behind Zanesville and Marion into a tight knot. Muncie and Springfield were deadlocked for third with .494 per cent and Dayton held fifth just one point behind.

Tonight's schedule: Dayton at Springfield, Marion at Lima, Muncie at Richmond, Newark at Zanesville.

Violent Ray Bests Charles But Bout with Louis Dims

By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, July 26—The smart money screamed and the heavyweight powers smiled unctuously today but there was no joy in the heart of Elmer (Violent) Ray, a man with a mission who for the second time had met a spoiler.

The gallery gods went into ranting hysterics last night when the burly Negro who once wrestled alligators for a living smashed the myth which was Ezzard Charles. The boxing bigwigs, who had been grooming Charles for a fight with Joe Louis, laughed.

Once more they had given Joe Louis, the heavyweight champion, an excuse to dodge the Violent one.

Looks Like Charles

For from 10 rows back it looked like Charles all the way. He danced and jabbed and landed a lot of leather—on Ray's bobbing pate and Elmer's busy elbows. But inside 10 rows you could see the devastation wrought by Ray's jarring hooks, blasts which raised a shelf on Ezzard's cheeks.

"Stop holding, Charles," was the continual admonition of referee Eddie Joseph.

But Ezzard of the winged, retreating feet, had to hold on—for his life.

So he lasted. And in doing so he made of Elmer Ray a modern Sam Langford.

You remember the Boston Tar Baby. He was a guy heavyweight champion Jack Johnson dodged and dodged during the six years he held the title some three decades ago. Langford tried desperately to get a bout with the champ, but Johnson never would have a part of him.

Louis Same Way With Ray

It's silly to say that Louis, the man who has made so many valiant defenses of the crown, is afraid of Elmer. But it is a fact that he won't fight the burley puncher from Hastings, Fla.

"Yeah, I'm a bum," Ray said as, absolutely unmarked, he sat in his dressing room after winning over Charles. "Charles, huh! He's a good light heavyweight and fast but he couldn't knock my hat off.

"If Louis still refuses to meet me I'm going to hang up my gloves. Why spend the rest of my life chasing him? Maybe I am a bum — so should a champ be afraid to keep his word and fight the winner of this bout?"

The feeling in this corner is that Louis shouldn't refuse. A real champ, and Louis is, shouldn't hide behind the "spoilers."

The home run came back into its own in city softball last night as 10 were hit in three makeup games.

Standard Oil players hit five in rolling over De Moley, 19-1. Oran got two, Ridenbaugh, M. Gorby, and Ehlen one each.

Reeder of Commercial Steel scattered six hits in shuting out Ohio Public Service, 5-0. Myers and F. Reeder each homered.

Four home runs, two by F. Angus and one by B. Johnson and G. Wells highlighted the 15-13 victory Quaker Oats got over General Excavator. J. Johnston hit three doubles in four times at bat.

McAllister won over American Legion on a forfeit.

PLAYS THAT COUNT

By FRANK ECK
AP Sports Editor

Billy Herman, one of the four freshman managers in the big leagues this season, says the most important ball game he ever saw was played during Brooklyn's 1941 pennant drive when the Dodgers scored a 1-0 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals in the waning days of the season.

"It was a real tough one," says Herman, "and I got a kick out of it personally. Mort Cooper hadn't allowed a hit for six innings in a duel with Whitt Wyatt.

"In the seventh inning Dixie Walker doubled to right center and I doubled to the same spot to drive in the only run and put the Cardinals two games back. A Cardinal win would have tied the pennant race.

HERMAN
Pirates

"I got a kick out of that hit because in May of that year the Cubs traded me to Brooklyn and they said I was through."

In the World Series with the Yankees that fall Herman says the most important Series play happened in the fourth game when Mickey Owens dropped a third strike while Tommy Henrich was at the plate. The Yanks won that game and eventually won the Series.

"I think Mickey should have caught the ball," says Herman. "After all, it was close enough for Henrich to swing at. We had the Yanks beaten that game and I think that play meant the Series."

Recalling his days as a Chicago Cub, Herman says another important hit was the homer Gabby Hartnett hit off Mace Brown of Pittsburgh in the dusk at Wrigley Field in 1938.

"The ball sailed somewhere in the left field bleachers yet I don't think anybody saw where it landed."

Unknowns Scare Golf Bigwigs at Columbus

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., July 26 — The highly-touted talent tackled a tough task today in the $10,000 second annual 72-hole Columbus Open golf tourney — that of overtaking a couple of first-round front-runners who popped up from nowhere.

While the hot-shots were having troubles yesterday in the first 18-hole round, 31-year-old Tommy Wright of Knoxville, Tenn., father of four daughters but never a golf tourney victor, sauntered in with a 33-34—67, five under par, and right behind him, with 34-34—68, came George Payton of Hampton, Va.

That performance gave Wright a three-stroke edge over the tourney favorite, Bobby Locke of South Africa, who is shooting for his seventh victory in a dozen tournaments since invading America in May. The foreign star, who has won $18,537 thus far, toured the Columbus Country Club—a tricky layout—in 70 blows, which tied him with Ky Laffoon of Chicago and Al Smith of Danville, Va.

Plenty of high - class professionals were close behind, including Jimmy Demaret of Ojai, Cali.; Harry Todd of Dallas, Tex., and Jim Milward, the Madison, Wis., driving range operator, at 71; and Sam Snead, PGA Champion Jim Ferrier Ed Furgol of Pontiac, Mich., and E. J. (Dutch) Harrison of York, Pa., at even par 72.

Eleven players were deadlocked at 73, including such luminaries as Chick Harbert of Detroit, runner-up for the PGA laurels; Johnny Palmer, the up-and-coming youngster from Badin, N. C., and Denny Shute, former British Open and twice PGA winner from Akron.

An eagle deuce on the 360-yard second hole shot Wright into the lead, but even that sensational feat — he holed a 120-yard iron shot — paled beside the ace registered by Al Marchi of Columbus on the 155-yard 13th. The ace, however, gave Marchi only a 75 for the day.

After today's single round, the 60 low scorers and ties from the starting field of 86 professionals and 14 amateurs will continue for 36 holes more tomorrow, with the victor taking down $2,500 and replacing the retired Byron Nelson as champion.

Ben Hogan, the year's top money winner with $18,784.16, had a gaudy seven on the par four fifth holes yesterday when he sliced his tee shot among some trees, into deep rough. Most embarrassing item about the whole thing, however, was that Little Ben missed the ball completely on his second shot — a mighty swing with which he sought to get the pellet out of trouble.

PROSPECT HIRES NEW COACH OF ATHLETICS

Keesler succeeds Chester Hurd who coached the south side team only one year.

Blackwell Runs String Of Consecutive Hurling Victories to Sixteen

By The Associated Press

Ewell Blackwell's gaudy string of 16 straight wins, fashioned in the day of the rabbit ball and the dime-a-dozen home run, stands out as the most spectacular pitching feat of the decade.

Within reaching distance is Rube Marquard's record of 19 consecutive victories in 1912. No other pitcher in modern days has bettered 16, a long-standing high for the American league.

Even now Blackwell's name is bracketed in the record books with Joe Wood of Boston, Lefty Grove of Philadelphia, Walter Johnson of Washington and Schoolboy Rowe of Detroit, co-holders of the American league record. The only other pitcher since 1900 to hit 16 was Carl Hubbell of the New York Giants in 1936.

Anxious Moments

There were anxious moments for "Blacky" and his Reds last night in the friendly surroundings of Crosley field. The Phillies, trailing 5-3 going to the ninth, loaded the bases with one out But they were able to push over only one run and succumbed, 5-4.

Blackwell struck out nine and did not walk a single Phil.

President Ford Frick ruled Sunday's protested St. Louis-Brookly contest a tie game 3-3 deciding that Ro... Northey was entitled to the disputed home run because he h.. been slowed down by umpire "Beans" Reardon. As a result the Dodgers lost a win and the Cards had one less defeat, at least until the game is replayed Aug. 18 as part of a doubleheader.

With the help of Frick's decision and a 5-1 verdict the Boston Braves, the defending champs, moved into sec.. l place, their highest mark for the year. Left, Howie Pollet tripled twice and singled in the attack on Red Barrett and his relief men. Stan Musial led the parade with four hits, including a double.

Brooklyn, however, disposed of Pittsburgh, 4-1, before a banner turnout of 42,014 at Forbes field, to maintain its lead at 5½ games.

Chicago thumped the New York Giants, 5-3, in the league's only day game, despite Johnny Mize's 29th homer, a three-run clout in the fifth inning off Paul Erickson.

The New York Yankees continued their slugging habits, wearing out four Chicago White Sox pitchers, 12-4 with 14 hits including Larry Berra's eighth homer with a man on in the first inning.

Boston took over second place by outscoring St. Louis, 7-6 while Detroit bowed to Philadelphia 9-5. As a result the Yanks' lead was 11¼ games.

Washington's Mickey Haefner silenced Cleveland with three hits, 5-1, to make it four straight wins for the Senators. Steve Gromek's wildness cost him three runs and the ball game in the first inning. Jerry Priddy walked with the bases full to force in one score and mark Christman singled home two more.

Phils Touch "Blackie" For 13 Hits but Lose

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, July 26—Redleg Ewell Blackwell, the most talked of pitcher in the majors, was hanging on the ropes last night but managed to survive a 13-hit Philadelphia attack to register his 16th consecutive victory of the season.

Cincinnati won the game 5-4 with a crowd of 24,430 roaring encouragement to the lanky right-hander down to the finish.

The last big league pitcher to win 16 straight was Carl Hubbell of the Giants, who turned the trick in 1936, but none has been able to cop 17 or more in modern days, with the exception of Rube Marquard, who got 19 in 1912.

Although the last-place Phillies, trailing 5-3, loaded the bases in the ninth, they were able to push over only one run.

The sixth-place Reds, who always play like champs when Blackie's on the mound, saved the day for their side arm artist with a four-run outburst in the third inning.

WES FESLER SCORNS CRYING TOWEL BUT SAYS O.S.U. IS WEAK

Hopes "Spirit" Will Make Up for Lack of Football Talent.

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, O., July 26—Wes Fesler, beginning his first season as Ohio State football coach, isn't one to drag out the crying towel, but he does admit the 1947 edition of the Buckeyes will have some weaknesses.

The former University of Pittsburgh mentor spoke here yesterday at a private party given by Thomas F. Patton, 1946 Ohio State national alumni president.

While admitting the Buckeyes' weaknesses, Fesler said he noped the "exceptionally fine spirit of this squad will correct some of those flaws as we go along. We had the roughest, toughest spring practice I have ever seen."

Fesler said he was pinning his backfield hopes on Ollie Cline, fullback of the 1944 squad who has been in the Army. Present plans call for Cline to alternate with pile-driving Joe Whisler at fullback.

Ohio State fans should see something new in defensive tactics this season — a 5-4-2 defense setup. Fesler, who originated the defense and used it with great success at Pitt last season, said he would begin the campaign with that maneuver.

The Prospect American Legion team won two games at home this week outhitting Nevada Firemen, 11-4, Wednesday night and last night edging Commercial Steel of Marion, 18-16.

LOS ANGELES, July 26—Passengers from the "Vaccination Special" were on the way to their destinations today, none the worse for treatment to avert possible exposure to smallpox.

A total of 171 passengers, crewmen, photographers and reporters aboard the Santa Fe train were vaccinated between San Bernardino, 60 miles east of here, and Los Angeles yesterday by doctors ordered aboard by the Los Angeles health department

A Negro waiter, Ray Thompson, 38, of Chicago, was taken from the train at Clovis, N. M., suffering from smallpox, and the preventative measures followed promptly.

LOVE'S PERILOUS PATH

By ADELE GARRISON

IT was fully two seconds before Philip Veritzen answered my request, and with a feeling that a cold draught was playing upon me from somewhere, I realized that his silence was ominous

"Yes, I will give Noel Mary's message," he said at last, and then, with steel in his voice, added a postscript

'Do you not see that this request rather emphasizes the things I said last night, which I later withdrew? It looks to me as if Mary were making a most remarkable recovery"

'She is," I replied, with a touch of steel in my own voice, "and I am authorized to tell you that she will be able to see you later in the day However, I must see you first, and explain some things which no one, except those who have been caring for her, know Noel does not know them, and will not be told until after you have learned them, for it is your right to be informed of the situation first But may I ask you to give no hint to Noel of anything unusual? Mary was so successful in making him believe she is much better, that he will be overjoyed, but not surprised, at her invitation to breakfast with her"

I shall say nothing whatever to Noel except what is necessary to convey Mary's invitation," he said a bit pompously Then his voice changed, was tinged with amusement, and I knew that I had won the first skirmish with him

'The wings of the wind will not be swift enough for Noel," he said "You may expect him on something more rapid And you said for me to come down in about two hours?"

'Yes Shall I telephone you five minutes beforehand? I cannot be certain of the exact hour just now"

A Touch of Confusion

"Of course, of course ' he said hastily, with a touch of confusion which almost never invests his speech I was maliciously glad that I had been thus able to upset him ever so slightly, for despite his many wonderful qualities I was getting a bit weary of dealing with Mary's stepfather.

"Then I will do that," I said hastily. "Thank you Good-bye '

I hung up the telephone and turned to see my husband looking at me with an infuriating grin upon his face

And the back of me hand to you, Phil, also the curse of Cromwell on you, ' he said Then, as I started toward the bedroom, he reached me with his effortless, apparently indolent, stride before I had touched the doorknob swung me around, propelled me to an armchair, and put me into it

"What particular train are you trying to catch?' he demanded. Anyway, it's gone now Take the next one '

Laughter and irritation were prodding me, but laughter won, as it generally does when Dicky deflates what he calls my 'superconscientiousness"

"I must tell Mary that Noel is coming to breakfast," I said

Mary Knows

"You couldn't get into nursery school on the I Q you're displaying this morning,' he said "Do you think you have to relieve Mary's mind on that score? She knows, as a matter of course, that Noel will be swallowing the bait hook and line and climbing up the bank looking for the pole, as soon as he gets that message And she wasn't 'decent' in your theatrical parlance, when she rushed in here to talk to Harriet a few minutes ago It will take Katharine a few minutes to get her into some clothes So sit down and tell me what's doing on old Phil

"One-sided conversations are very unsatisfactory to the innocent bystander listening in," he went on So come clean not forgetting to tell me the reason for the special peeve which crept into your dulcet voice"

"Oh dear!' I said alarmed 'Do you think Phil noticed? And when I especially wanted to keep him in as good a humor as possible!"

Shouldn't Dust Him Off

'Then you shouldn't dust him off quite so precipitously ' he said 'And isn't that a lovely five-syllable word' I just thought it up all by myself!'

"Beautiful," I agreed idly, my mind still occupied with the gloomy picture of Phil's possible displeasure, and Dicky snapped his fingers at me in the fashion of a rude boss demanding attention

'Git in line thar!" he commanded 'Hey, youse in that chair —Madge, did you say your name was? Wal Madgie, suppose you get busy and tell me what you're carrying around in your bird brain"

'It wasn't what he said' I began, ignoring his nonsense and realizing that he really did wish to know Phil's attitude toward Mary

'But the nasty way he said it," Dicky interrupted "I gathered that from the way your spine stiffened But what was the gabfest, and what's he going to do?"
